

ATDP's Pathway Scholarship covers 100% of tuition and program fees for one Secondary Division course.

- ▶ Pathway Scholars have a dedicated counselor for academic support and mentorship.
- ▶ Scholars meet weekly as a small group with a focus on building community and developing a range of academic skills.

Who should apply

- 7th–11th grade students applying for an SD On-Site course
- Students who are hardworking, academically motivated, and have demonstrated resilience and perseverance in the face of significant hardships
- Students from households that have demonstrated a need for financial assistance (e.g., FRLP eligibility)
- Priority consideration will be given to first-time Pathway Scholar applicants.

How to apply

- Step 1: Email atdpoffice@berkeley.edu with a 250-500 word response to the following prompt:
Tell us about a time when you persevered and overcame a personal hardship or adverse life experience. What were the circumstances? How did you manage to overcome this obstacle? What lessons did you learn? Discuss how this experience will help you succeed at ATDP and your future.
- Step 2: Submit a complete application at atdp.berkeley.edu. Be sure to apply for financial aid, which will need supporting documents. A staff person will reply to your email (step 1) and can help you through the process.
 - The financial aid deadline is March 23, 2026, but we will continue to accept Pathway Scholarship applicants by exception beyond that date.
 - Act as soon as possible! Popular courses will continue to fill throughout the spring.
