Dear Members of the East Brunswick School Community,

We are inviting members of our school community to express interest in participating in a School Funding Advocacy Stakeholder Group focused on revisiting and advocating for improvements to New Jersey's school funding formula.

This work is particularly important for the East Brunswick School District. Like many districts across the state, East Brunswick has experienced the real and lasting impacts of a funding formula that does not always reflect current enrollment trends, student needs, or the true cost of providing a high-quality, equitable education. As a result, districts such as ours are often challenged to sustain programs, services, and opportunities that our students and families value and deserve.

This stakeholder group will bring together a broad and representative cross-section of our community including parents, educators, administrators, students, community members, and individuals with experience in advocacy, policy, or public engagement. Our goal is to elevate informed voices, lived experiences, and strategic advocacy to help shape meaningful conversations and actions around fair, adequate, and predictable school funding for East Brunswick and districts like ours.

Participants will:

- Engage in learning and dialogue about the current NJ school funding formula and its impact on East Brunswick
- Help identify key challenges and priorities related to student needs, fiscal sustainability, and educational equity
- Contribute to advocacy strategies and outreach efforts at the local and state level

We are particularly seeking individuals who are knowledgeable about, or interested in, advocacy work related to education, public policy, or community organizing. At the same time, we value diverse perspectives and encourage anyone committed to supporting strong, equitable public schools in East Brunswick to consider participating.

If you are interested, please complete the brief interest form linked below by Monday, March 9th. Submitting the form does not guarantee selection, but it will help us ensure balanced representation and a productive stakeholder group. Thank you for your continued partnership and commitment to East Brunswick's students and schools.
