JERRI MOCK SPEAKS TO JUNIOR HIGH

Mrs. Jerri Mock of Columbus, Ohio, the first woman to fly solo around the world, spoke to the seventh and eighth grades of Berne Union on Thursday, May 4.

Mrs. Mock explained that some of her other accomplishments included being the first woman to fly across the Pacific in both directions and being the first woman to fly both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. She also holds quite a few speed records in different weight of classes of airplanes.

The plane she used on her world flight was a Cessna 180 built in 1953. The plane was named The Spirit of Columbus, but she nicknamed it Charlie after the plane's registration numbers.

Mrs. Mock told the assembly that she had wanted to be a pilot since she was seven years old. She was partly inspired by the great woman aviator, Amelia Earhart, who disappeared over the Pacific while trying to circle the globe in the late 1930's. Mrs. Mock decided to try a world flight after she learned that no woman since Miss Earhart had tried it.

She left Port Columbus on March 19, 1964. She flew first to Bermuda and then to the Azore Islands. From there she went to Casablanca, Morocco. She then flew along the south coast of the Mediterranean Sea to Bone, Algeria, Tripoli, and on to Cairo.

She had some difficulty near Cairo when she accidentally landed at a "secret" Egyptian airbase. The base wasn't so secret, however. Planes had been mistaking it for the Cairo airport for some time prior to this.

From Cairo she went to Saudi Arabia and from there over Pakistan, India, Thailand, Vietnam, and finally landed at Manila in the Philippines. From there she went to Guam, Wake Island, Hawaii, California, and completed her historic flight when she landed at Port Columbus on April 17, 1964.

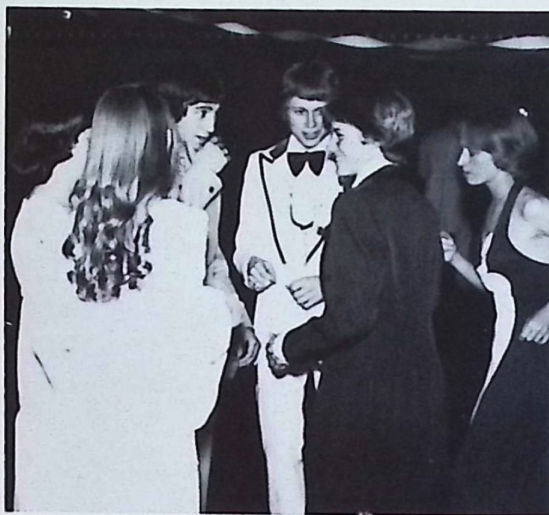

Mrs. Mock said that the flight was a wonderful experience, one which she enjoyed very much. She loved being over the ocean and wasn't lonely at all. There were only two times that she was scared. The first time came when she was near Tripoli. She thought she smelled a fire aboard her airplane. The other time came over the South China Sea, when her engine started coughing.

On her flight, she got to see how the people in different lands live. She got to stay in their homes, eat their food, and see some of their customs and traditions. She said it was a great way to see the world.

After her speech, there was a reception in the library where students and faculty got to meet Mrs. Mock personally and many got her autograph or took her picture.

DESIRE, DISCIPLINE, DEDICATION

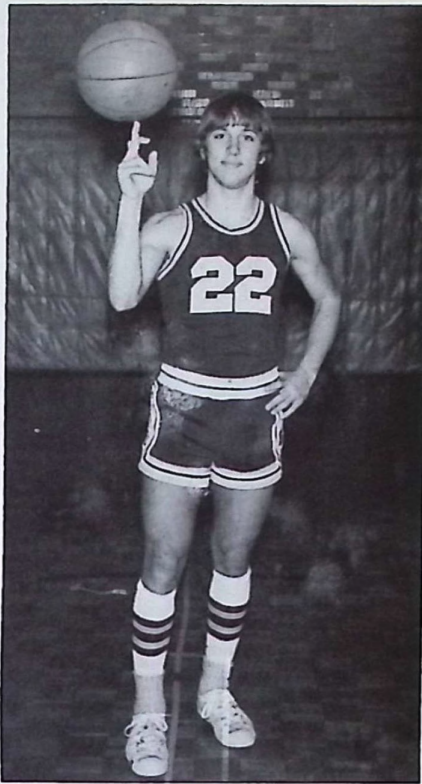

The three big D's of sports are necessary for the success of any athletic team. The basketball team exhibited these three qualities throughout their highly successful season which saw them capture the second place trophy in the MSL and the sectional championship. The "Roundballers" were a very disciplined group of players in practice and in games and had a great desire to once again be champions. Their dedication to work year round to achieve this goal is what "Roundballers' Pride" is all about.
