Virtual Project-based Learning (PBL)

Virtual project-based learning is a comprehensive full-time program designed for students who prefer an independent learning environment outside of the traditional school facility. Virtual projects are distinct from the in-person program and are led by dedicated teachers, creating a fully independent virtual experience. Participants enroll in a full day of projects and capstone activities, earning multiple half credits based on grade level and individual needs. In certain cases, the program may be adapted or offered in a reduced format to accommodate students with extenuating circumstances.
