Long Term Care Riders, a New Solution

In this class, we will explore various approaches to long-term care planning, with a specific emphasis on a new concept called long-term care riders. Traditionally, long-term care insurance has operated on a "use it or lose it" basis, where if you don't end up needing long-term care, your insurance premiums are essentially lost. However, the idea of long-term care riders introduces a fresh perspective. It involves incorporating long-term care coverage as an additional benefit to your life insurance policy. This means that even if you don't require long-term care, the coverage can still be utilized as a part of your life insurance policy, ensuring that your premiums are not wasted. By delving into the concept of long-term care riders, we will explore how this approach can provide a more comprehensive and flexible solution for your long-term care needs. You will gain a deeper understanding of how this innovative concept can offer greater financial security and peace of mind, eliminating the "use it or lose it" aspect commonly associated with traditional long-term care insurance. Join this class to discover the potential benefits of long-term care riders and how they can enhance your overall long-term care planning strategy. Say goodbye to the fear of losing your insurance premiums and embrace a more flexible and comprehensive approach to long-term care coverage.

A Day on Keuka Lake

Wednesday, May 27

$185

The adventure starts with a visit to the FINGER LAKES BOATING MUSEUM. Housed in a beautifully restored historic building, the museum is a tribute to the region's rich boatbuilding heritage. Classic wooden skiffs, sleek canoes, and gleaming inboards tell stories of lake life from another era. Exhibits bring craftsmanship to life, and if you're lucky, a boat restoration demo might be in full swing. It's hands-on, nostalgic, and a hidden gem for any history or lake-life enthusiast. From there, the road winds up the hillside to BULLY HILL WINERY, where humor, history, and bold wine collide. Perched high above the lake, the tasting room offers jaw-dropping panoramic views of Keuka's sparkling waters below. Inside, the atmosphere is casual and quirky — a perfect reflection of founder Walter Taylor's rebellious spirit. Flights feature fruity, approachable wines like Sweet Walter Red or their crisp Riesling, paired with laughter and a little winery folklore. Here you will enjoy a DELICIOUS LUNCH OVERLOOKING THE LAKE. After a relaxing lunch, the afternoon wraps with a sweet detour to KEUKA CANDY EMPORIUM in Penn Yan. Stepping inside feels like entering a vintage candy shop dream — rows of old-fashioned favorites, handmade fudge, novelty treats, and local delights line the shelves. You will have a candy dipping demonstration and then be able to dip yourself! It's impossible to leave without a bag (or two) of goodies — perfect for the drive home or a lakeside treat as the sun sets.
