Specials Classes-Art, Music. and Gym

At FHEVS our PE class is built around state learning standards that focus on helping children become “physically literate”—meaning they can move confidently, stay active, and work well with others. PE teaches:

- Movement skills
- Fitness and health habits
- Teamwork and social skills

In music class, kids sing, move, play instruments, and explore music from different eras, cultures, and genres. It's a space where they can be themselves, take creative risks, and feel proud of what they make. In the younger grades, we focus on play and exploration. As students grow, they start reading, performing, and creating their own music. Watching their confidence build is the best part.

In art class, students will be introduced to art and artists from many genres, cultures, and time periods. They will discuss the meanings and artistic choices in art and how it is made for various reasons, such as emotional expression, to tell a story, or to persuade an audience. In addition, students will use critical thinking to design various artworks using a range of art materials. In addition, students will responsibly handle art materials and clean up appropriately.

PBIS

As a PBIS school, our mission contains the 4 pillars that we focus on daily to promote the development of the whole child. Our mission statement is as follows: To create an inclusive environment, where all stakeholders display honesty, dedication, responsibility, and are kind citizens who make the world a better place. This statement was created through the development of the PBIS team, which included staff, parents, and students. This mission statement was turned into a chant, that we say as a whole school every morning over announcements. In every area of the school, we have these 4 pillars listed, and then what it looks like when we display these characteristics in the different areas. These pillars explicitly lay out the expectations for both students and staff. They help to promote high levels of learning and teaching as well as guide our tiered process of PBIS decision making.

SEL and Guidance

The school counselor focuses on supporting the overall development of 3 student domains which are Academic, Career, and Social/Emotional. As the elementary school counselor, I am available to provide direct services for all students who are in need of short term and solution focused counseling support. Direct services that are included in the Elementary Comprehensive School Counseling Program are individual sessions, small group counseling, and classroom social emotional learning lessons focusing on a multitude of skills and topics that encourage and promote overall student wellness and success. I work closely with the MTSS process, PBIS programming, and continue to work towards building a peer mentoring program now that we are all in one building. As the school counselor, I also work closely with other stakeholders to bridge gaps between community, school, and home. I enjoy focusing on individual student needs while working with all team members to ensure each student has every opportunity to reach their fullest potential here at Fairport Harbor Schools!
