

You see the struggles your students face every day. Transform how you help them.

At William & Mary, prepare for licensure as a school counselor equipped to champion inclusion and dismantle barriers for K-12 students.

EARN THE ONLINE M.ED. IN COUNSELING WITH A CONCENTRATION IN SCHOOL COUNSELING.

- CACREP-accredited
- CAEP-accredited
- Aligned with ASCA National Standards

Social Justice at the Core

William & Mary's online program centers on inclusion, cultural responsiveness and advocacy—preparing you to address systemic challenges and support students from all backgrounds in elementary, middle and high school settings.

KEY FEATURES

- Online program designed for working professionals
- Complete in as few as three years
- Two 3-day campus residencies
- 100-hour practicum + 600-hour internship in K-12 settings
- Award-winning faculty members who are leaders in the profession

CURRICULUM INCLUDES

- Multicultural counseling
- Human development
- Counseling theories and techniques
- Career development
- Group counseling
- Prevention and Intervention

“The School of Education at William & Mary is highly regarded, and its school counseling program is offered in a convenient online format. I am confident the coursework will provide a strong foundation for licensure and prepare me to achieve my goal of working as a school counselor in the public high school setting.”

— Liisa S., M.Ed. Counseling candidate, '28

Join Us Where Social Justice Drives Student Success

