

Dear Conrad School Community,

As we welcome the spring season, I am pleased to share that the season is off to a great start here at Conrad. Our athletics programs have taken center stage, with competition in full swing across both our high school and middle school teams. It has been exciting to see our students demonstrate teamwork, commitment, and school pride both on and off the field.

Academically, we have successfully completed our SAT and PSAT administrations, which serve as important milestones in supporting students' access to future opportunities and helping them work toward their post-secondary goals. These moments reflect the continued focus and effort our students have shown throughout the year.

As we move through the second half of the school year, I am energized by what the final stretch holds for our community. Our students have been working hard and remain fully committed to their individual growth and success. With spring break approaching, we will soon transition into the final marking period, during which students will complete State testing, Advanced Placement courses, and Dual Enrollment experiences.

This has been a truly strong year for Conrad, and we are looking forward to celebrating several meaningful culminating events, including Prom, the 8th Grade Formal, and, of course, graduation. These moments will honor the hard work, perseverance, and accomplishments of our students.

I continue to be inspired by the dedication of our staff, the determination of our students, and the ongoing support of our families. Thank you for your continued partnership and commitment to our Red Wolf community. Together, we will finish the year strong.

Warmly,

Kendra Todd-Dixon, Principal
