

Announcing our second annual technology camp for girls, grades 6-12, focusing on coding, AI and digital design.

Participants can choose one of ten hands-on projects led by Cardinal Health employees, aimed at building confidence and interest in STEM. The camp will emphasize collaboration and problem-solving, preparing students to become future innovators in technology. We will provide an engaging environment for the girls to explore their potential and connect with peers, while envisioning a future in tech-driven careers.

REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN!
