Fall 2013

The Magazine for Alumni, Parents, Grandparents and Friends of Archbishop Wood High School

INCLUDING THE 2012-13 ANNUAL REPORT OF GIFTS

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I hope that you will join us on Saturday, April 26, 2014, at the 50th Anniversary Gala, which will be held at your Alma Mater. ... It would be wonderful to see all of you as we celebrate fifty years of Catholic Education at Archbishop Wood High School, home of the Vikings.

As we begin a year of celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Archbishop Wood High School, I would like to express my deepest appreciation for your support throughout the year. Your alma mater is thriving in every aspect of Catholic Education. Our students are successful in every aspect of high school life: in the classroom, on the stage and athletic fields, as well as in the community.

Let me tell you about some of the achievements of our students:

- The Class of 2013 was awarded over twenty-five million dollars in scholarships and grants.
- 125 students achieved three or more college credits through our Dual Enrollment programs.
- Archbishop Wood currently has fifteen Neumann Scholars attending, as well as thirteen members of All Catholic Chorus, Band, and Orchestra.
- Our students have been finalists in the Philadelphia Area Shakespeare Contest and the “Why is STEM Cool?” video contest.
- Archbishop Wood’s athletic teams continue to dominate: this past year our Football and Girls’ Cross Country teams achieved PCL Championships, and the Boys’ and Girls’ Soccer teams and the Girls’ Swimming joined them with District XII Championships. Add to these accomplishments 116 All Catholic Athletes and eleven All State Athletes and you can see why we are very proud.

Academically we continue to grow and challenge our students to be the best that they can be by always “Striving for Excellence.” With the addition of our new STEM program, we are giving our students the chance to explore Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math while they are here at Archbishop Wood. With the addition of our new Learning Specialist, Mrs. Katherine Ruzicka Nase, Class of 2006, we are enabling every student to succeed at Wood.

Our new Learning Commons in the South building will give our students a beautiful setting in which they can do research and work during and after school in an area that promotes a university or college atmosphere. We have also begun to renovate the bathrooms at Wood.

I write to you about these additions and improvements because without your generosity and support many things could not be done. I hope that you will join us on Saturday, April 26, 2014, at the 50th Anniversary Gala, which will be held at your Alma Mater. Please find more information in the magazine about this event. If you have not been back for a visit this would be a great night to do so and don’t forget to tell another alum. It would be wonderful to see all of you as we celebrate fifty years of Catholic Education at Archbishop Wood High School, home of the Vikings.

Once again I thank you for all that you do and I hope and pray that you will continue to support our mission to educate the current and future students of Archbishop Wood High School for many years to come. Please know that you and your families are always in my prayers, for without you many things would not be possible. God Bless.

Sincerely yours,

Gary V. Zimmaro Sr.

Behinds-the-scenes tour with State Rep Michael Fitzpatrick

By Carly Noonan '14

On the 16th of May, Archbishop Wood's Biology teacher, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, took a mixed group of 50 students to Washington D.C. for an inside tour of our nation's capital, courtesy of her husband, Michael Fitzpatrick. Michael Fitzpatrick is a United States Representative for Pennsylvania's 8th congressional district which includes Bucks County and parts of Montgomery County. Mrs. Fitzpatrick welcomed the students for a chance to explore her husband's office before she led them underground to the Capital Building.

That's right-underground. Unbeknown to many, there are several underground tunnels in Washington D.C. that connect the government workers office buildings to the Capital Building. These tunnels create easier passageways for the workers to get to where they need to be, but are usually closed to the public. However, thanks to some connections, the students were able to walk through the tunnels and were extremely surprised when former Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi nonchalantly walked past them! When they arrived to the Capital, the students got special treatment with a behind the scenes tour by Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mike Fitzpatrick himself. Afterwards, the students were allowed to go and explore Washington D.C. on their own for a few hours. Some of the popular attractions were the Smithsonian Museums, the Botanic Garden, and the National Mall. The class trip offered rare opportunities to catch inside glimpses of our nation's capital and the students cannot thank the Fitzpatricks enough for making such a memorable field trip.

The Learning Commons

The Learning Commons occupies the area formerly occupied by the Library. This newly renovated space contains 46 computers, a reading area, collaboration area and a tutoring area. Housed within the Learning Commons is also our Learning Specialist who will work with students with learning issues.

The Learning Commons will be open from 7am until 5pm. Students can go to the Commons during lunch, study, before or after school. While many of the volumes located in the Library have been either moved to department areas, donated or recycled, many books will be located in the Learning Commons. In addition, digital books will be available for students to borrow on their device.

The students and faculty of Archbishop Wood look forward to using this beautiful area for reading, writing, research and collaboration.

STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math)

Each year the Guidance Department of Archbishop Wood High School compiles a survey of the graduate's intended college major. Science majors have always been in the plurality. Recently the number of students expressing a specific interest in engineering has grown. Additionally, the number of females expressing an interest in engineering has increased. Based on these facts and literature on STEM fields:

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported that science and engineering occupations are projected to grow by 21.5% from 2004 to 2014, compared to a growth of 13% in all occupations during the same time period. (Cole, Camille: Connecting Student to Stem Careers, p. 3)

The administration of Archbishop Wood has embarked upon a plan to implement a STEM curriculum.

We are proud to announce that our STEM program began this September. This year students can select either Robotics/Introduction to Engineering or CAD/Adobe Flash. These courses will provide students with an up-close view of the world of engineering and the skills needed to be successful in this field.

The Robotics/Introduction to Engineering Class is being co-taught by two professional in the field of engineering. Robotics will provide the students with a hands-on experience in building and programming while the Introduction to Engineering class will give an overview of the various fields of engineering and the skills needed to be successful in this field.

CAD/Adobe Flash taught in the Business Technology Department will allow the students to get a taste of the Computer Assisted Drawing needed in engineering and a variety of technologies through Adobe Flash class.

Q & A with Kevin Monaghan, Class of 1973

By Carly Noonan '14

Kevin Monaghan is a '73 graduate at Archbishop Wood and is currently the Senior Vice President, Strategic Relationships, at NBC's Digital Media. We caught up with Kevin to ask him how Archbishop Wood inspired and fostered the successful career he has now.

Q: How would you describe your experience at Archbishop Wood?

Kevin: I got a great education at Archbishop Wood. There were some really good teachers that challenged me in various ways; particularly John Sharp and Paul Kelly, who pushed my classmates and me academically almost to the point that they were equivalent to college level teachers. Academics were very important but I think that the learning, acquiring, and mastering of life skills from Archbishop Wood came from outside of the classroom. I proudly worked as manager on the football team and served on student council my Junior year as secretary and my Senior year as President. I learned estimably how to get things done and how to work with people and treat others with respect.

Q: What did you learn most from managing the football team?

I wasn't a very athletic kid but I like sports so this was an activity that I really loved doing and that I am very proud of. When I managed the football team, Archbishop Wood was in the middle of a transformation of their athletic teams. They brought in a big time football coach, Dick Bedesem, who started to bring Archbishop Wood football to the map. He put in a lot of great coaches, including the late Skip Duffy and Rich Kelly. Being able to work with the football team allowed me to watch the transformation of a how bringing in a new coach affected the team and changed the attitude and changed the culture.

Q: What is your most memorable high school experience?

We had a day called Un-day where we tried to make it unlike any other previous day. Student Council organized and invited speakers to talk not only about academic subjects, but strong controversial real-world issues. One of the speakers we invited was a Christian brother from a school called Manhattan College in the Bronx. I asked him to come in and talk about how Freshman, Sophomores, and Juniors could prepare for the college process. I met him personally at the end of the day and he asked me where I was going to school. I told him I was still looking around and he gave me an application to Manhattan College, free of charge, and said, "Apply here."

Q: Is that where you ended up going to college?

Yes. I got a scholarship and after that the rest in history. I got involved in the sports information office at Manhattan College and being in the media capital of the world, New York City, I was able to parlay that into a public relations career with a Sports Public Relations company for a year. On December 1, 1981, I joined NBC sports as a sports publicist and did that through the late '80s. I then moved to business development and got involved in the digital space in 1996 when we did our first Olympics on the internet. Now after over 30 years of working with NBC, I'm involved full time with Digital. I've had a lot of different challenging roles here but it's been a blast!

Kevin also served as boxing coordinator for NBC. He currently lives in Upper Montclair, NJ with his wife Hillary. They have four children: Christina, Rory, Molly and Annie

Walking the path of integrity

Walter Perez, Anchor of 6 ABC News, came to Archbishop Wood High School to speak to the students about academic integrity. Walter is pictured here with Brian Nessel '14, Representative for the Academic Integrity Committee, and Mary Harkins, Principal.

For the Love of the Game

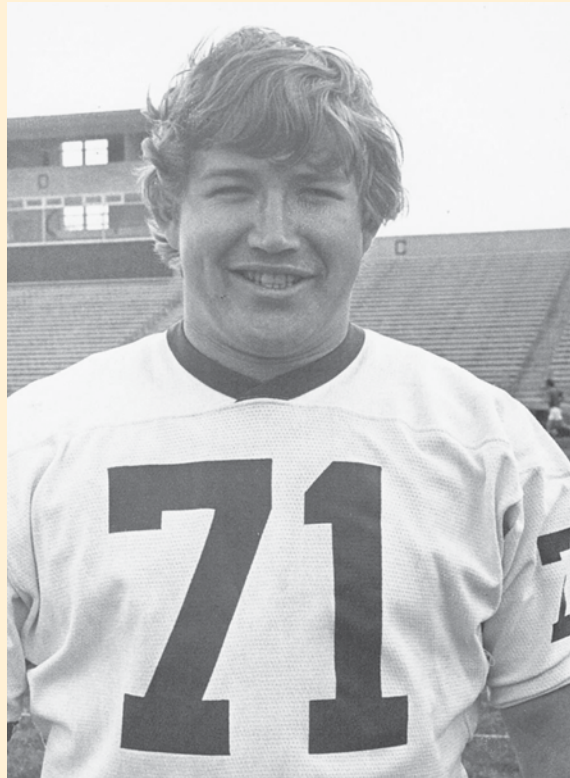

By: Kelly Sharp

Fall means one thing in the Simon household: football season has arrived. If you look out onto the local high school football field on a Friday night, you will find Coach Jack Simon pacing the sidelines and conferring with the athletes. He has been a fixture at Milford High School for over 30 years, coaching for at least 20 of those.

His long career, however, did not begin on the sidelines. It began over 40 years ago on the field of Archbishop Wood High School. Jack entered Wood in 1968 and played all four years for the team, three on the varsity level, as an offensive tackle. During his first three years there, the team was young and struggled. However, during his senior year, the team, led by Coach Dick Bedesem, produced a winning season and even placed 3rd in the league. Mr. Simon was voted co-captain of the team senior year and was named First Team All Catholic. He was also selected to the Courier Times and Daily Intelligencer all area teams. He was described by his teammates as a “bruising tackle who helped lead the way for the offense.” Mr. Simon also had the opportunity to play for the North Squad in the Bucks County All Star Game. It was the first all star game to be played in Bucks County, with the North Squad winning the contest 28 to 24. He not only played football, but also kept busy playing intramurals for four years and tossing the shot put for the track team for his last three years at Wood.

All of Mr. Simon’s hard work paid off as he was awarded a partial scholarship to Drexel University and West Chester State College. Jack decided to continue his career at West Chester from 1972 until 1975, where he once again helped lead the team as an offensive tackle. In his sophomore year, the team received an invitation to play in the Florida Classic. During his senior year, he was selected to the All Pennsylvania Conference, Eastern Division First Team at his position and was also selected as the West Chester MVP offensive lineman of the year in 1975. He was also appointed by the Associated Press to the “Little All American” team the same year.

Upon graduation, Mr. Simon accepted a job as a drivers education teacher at Milford High School in Milford, DE. He would go on to teach for 30 years and coach for most of that time. Over the span of 27 years, he had the privilege of coaching two state championship wrestling teams, a state championship track and football team. Even though Mr. Simon retired in 2006, nothing could keep him off the football field. His love for the game was evident as he volunteered long hours, and even took a job as assistant Athletic Director. During his years since retirement, Mr. Simon was able to coach his son, Jack, a second team all-state center, and even helped the team win a State Championship in 2008. He continues to coach and share his love for the game with the athletes and fellow coaches, including son-in-law Mike Sharp. Along with coaching, he also worked as an advisor to the LEO Club, Varsity Club and helped to establish the Milford High School Football Hall of Fame, which just inducted its 6th class of athletes.

Jack currently lives in Delaware with his wife Bonnie of 36 years. Both of his children, Jack and Kelly, also live in the area. When he is not on the field coaching, he likes to spend time golfing, fishing, volunteering with the Lions Club and with his grandchildren Patrick and Haleigh.

Roll-ing Toward Success

Written by Cheryl Barbone

Listening to music while creating bold, delicious flavors of barbecue sauce does not sound like a typical day in the office. That's because it's not! Russ Mareno '04 and Brian VanZelst '04 truly know the meaning of living life to the fullest!

Russ and Brian founded Rock the Roll, a business that is taking food creation to the next level. They specialize in the selling of custom barbecue sauces while competing in local cooking competitions in the Greater Philadelphia area. After all, what could be better than a great barbecue with amazing friends, all while listening to your favorite music? That's, right – music is a big part of the Rock the Roll experience, too!

Russ and Brian became fast friends during their freshman year math class, when they learned they both had the same taste in music. They instantly bonded and also discovered they had a deep love for cars. Going to concerts and car shows became a regular occurrence for these best friends. Going to separate colleges did not necessarily separate these two (Russ went to Rider University and Brian to Wilkes University). They remained close friends, attended concerts together and visited each other when possible. One of the things they both realized while attending college and working at local eateries was that they also had a love for good, authentic food!

After graduating from college, Russ and Brian moved back to Bucks County but knew that they could expand their palates even more. They started camping across the country to find different local cuisines and cultures. In 2011, they visited one new restaurant in Philadelphia each month, choosing a new type of cuisine each time. It was always part of their long-term plans to break into the food industry, but one day it just clicked!

They knew there was a way to combine their love of music and passion for food with not just a business, but an experience. Russ and Brian wanted their customers to feel the passion and excitement that they felt when the idea emerged. Rock the Roll was officially registered as a business in the state of Pennsylvania in January 2012. The two up-and-coming entrepreneurs hosted “taste-testing” parties for friends and family, welcoming feedback on different dishes, sauces, and impression of their culinary creations.

Not only is Rock the Roll an engaging experience for your palate and social scene, but philanthropy is a big part of where Russ and Brian want to take their business. After starting a barbecue competition team and entering in various local competitions, not only did the guys find success in the end results of the competitions, but also decided to build a charitable element into the core of their business. If the opportunity to play music in grammar school did not exist, Rock the Roll would not be where it is today. Recently, music programs in the Greater Philadelphia Area have been suffering. They are doing everything in our power to help fix this issue. At any of their many events, Rock the Roll will be collecting used musical instruments that will then be donated to local music programs in the Greater Philadelphia Area. Music has been at the core of Rock the Roll from the beginning, which is why they want to give kids the opportunity to find themselves through music like we did! Russ and Brian attribute their dedication to helping the community to the education and values they learned while students at Archbishop Wood.

As far as the competitions go, as the rookies of their very first competition, they took first prize in the “ribs” category and second in “pulled pork.” Michael Klein, top food critic and lead editor of Philadelphia Magazine, was one of the judges that found Rock the Roll to be worthy of both prizes. Recently, Rock the Roll participated in the Stephen Starr/Garry Maddox BBQ Challenge at Citizens Bank Park, benefiting Complete 360, a charity that supports education and development of urban youth in the Philadelphia area.

After testing many different flavors of barbecue sauces, Russ and Brian have decided to launch their Honey Barbecue flavor, as their initial offering. They've invested a lot of time in the research and development of their signature product, finding the best local ingredients while keeping the bold flavor that has attached itself to their brand. In today's health-conscious world, it's difficult to benchmark a product such as barbecue sauce as "healthy," but Russ and Brian take pride in their Honey Barbecue sauce being just 50 calories per two tablespoons.

What's next for Rock the Roll? Keep an eye out for that signature sauce in local flea markets throughout Bucks County and Philadelphia. They will also be selling their Honey Barbecue Sauce at Petit Gourmand in Manayunk, a brick and mortar kitchen and house wares boutique that will carry a carefully curated selection of design-driven kitchen wares, cookware, and gourmet items. Don't be surprised if you pass your favorite store and you see that Rock the Roll logo in the window! Russ and Brian are taking their products to the shelves of local storefronts as we speak. Their long-term goal is to open a restaurant in Philadelphia that will truly reflect their personalities and continue the excitement that Rock the Roll delivers to its customers. Music and barbecue could be the next peanut butter and jelly. Or the next Russ and Brian.

THE PRESIDENT'S LEADERSHIP SOCIETY

GIFTS RECEIVED BETWEEN JULY 1, 2012 AND JUNE 30, 2013

THE PRESIDENT'S LEADERSHIP SOCIETY is comprised of lead benefactors who, through their generosity, demonstrate a commitment to the ideals and mission of Archbishop Wood High School. Membership in the society is open to all individuals, companies, and foundations that make an annual gift of $1,000 or more to Archbishop Wood High School. Annually members are invited each fall to a reception hosted by the President and the Board of Advisors. We remain grateful for the leadership support offered by all who are members of The President's Leadership Society.

CURRENT PARENTS & PARENTS OF ALUMNI

GIFTS RECEIVED BETWEEN JULY 1, 2012 AND JUNE 30, 2013

We remain so very grateful to our parents who actively support our mission here at Archbishop Wood. In addition to fulfilling their tuition obligations, many current parents volunteer in the Parents Association, booster clubs, in the athletic and fine arts departments as well as in the Advancement Office. Over 20% have donated this year which enables Wood to continued being one of the top schools in the area. We are also grateful to the Parents of Alumni who continue to support Wood even though their children have graduated.
