Some things to remember…

iReady is an adaptive assessment, that means it will present questions/problems that are above, below, and at skill level. When information is presented that the student does not know, let them guess and move on. The assessments should not be stressful.*

It is recommended that the student is proctored/shadowed by an adult that can support their engagement, identify "random clicking", or provide appropriate guided support.*

Make sure to allow for breaks when needed.*

If you do not return to your assessment within a 3-school day period, IReady will reset the assessment.*
