Archbishop Wood High School

Office of the President

Dear Friends,

What an exciting night for Archbishop Wood as we recognize past members of the Hall of Fame and induct six new candidates. We are most proud of our alumni who walked the halls of Archbishop Wood, sat in the classrooms listening intently to their teachers, supported the different athletic teams, activities programs, and school clubs, and yes, as four years passed, graduated from Archbishop Wood to start their journey into the future and leave their mark on society.

Archbishop Wood is celebrating fifty years, and from the first graduating Class of 1967 to the current graduating Class of 2015, there have been over twenty thousand young men and women who have left the halls of Archbishop Wood and ventured out into the world to leave their mark, and what a mark it is. Wood grads are doctors, lawyers, educators, artists, entrepreneurs in every facet of business; there are alums who have chosen the religious life, an astronaut, an admiral and many others who have committed their lives to the military, and this night we will even induct a federal judge to the Hall of Fame community. It is most impressive to see and hear of the accomplishments and successes of our alumni. It makes me very proud to be attached to such a wonderful community as the "Vikings."

Congratulations to our new inductees as you enter the Hall of Fame of Archbishop Wood High School and a special thank you to all of the Hall of Fame members who are with us this evening as well as those who could not attend. May God continue to smile upon you and your families. God Bless you and thanks for being a "Viking."

Sincerely yours,

Gary V. Zimmaro

History of the School

The School Site

Ground was broken for the twin Archbishop Wood High Schools on June 20, 1963, by the Right Reverend Monsignor Edward T. Hughes, M.A., Superintendent of Schools for the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. The site of the two high schools was 32 acres of former farmland located at the intersections of State Highway 263 (York Road) and State Highway 132 (Street Road) in Warminster Township, Bucks County.

Archbishop James Frederick Wood

The schools were named for the fifth Bishop and first Archbishop of Philadelphia, the Most Reverend James F. Wood, D.D. The Archbishop, born on April 27, 1813 in Philadelphia, was a convert to the Faith. He was baptized in the First Unitarian Church in Philadelphia. Shortly before his twenty-fifth birthday, he was received into the Catholic Church. A year later, he was sent to Rome to prepare for the priesthood. After his ordination on March 25, 1844, he served in the Diocese of Cincinnati.

In 1856, Reverend James F. Wood was sent to Philadelphia by the Holy See and was appointed as Co-adjutor with the right to succession to Bishop John Neumann. For three years, Bishop Wood worked closely with Bishop Neumann as the Philadelphia Catholic School System began to take shape. He succeeded to the See on January 5, 1860 when Bishop Neumann, now revered as St. John Neumann, died.

In 1875, the Holy See raised Philadelphia to the dignity of a Metropolitan See, naming Bishop Wood as the first Archbishop. After serving the people of Philadelphia devotedly for twenty-three years, Archbishop Wood died on June 20, 1883.

The People of Archbishop Wood High School

When the twin schools opened in 1964, the Founding Principals were the Reverend Joseph A. Shields, J.C.D. (Girls School) and the Reverend Peter Kelkermanns, C.I.C.M. (Boys School). The original faculty consisted of Diocesan Priests, members of the Congregation of the Immaculate Heart of Mary (C.I.C.M.), a Belgian community of missionary priests; Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary (IHM), Sisters of St. Joseph (SSJ), Religious Sisters of Mercy (RSM), and devoted lay teachers. Other religious orders who served the community include the Vincentian Fathers (CM), the Oblates of St. Francis de Sales (OSFS), and the Religious of the Assumption (RA).

In March 1990, the Archdiocese announced that the two separate schools would merge, effective July 1, 1990, to be known as Archbishop Wood High School. The first principal of the merged school was the Reverend John A. Close.

In 1994, a new model for administration was introduced at Archbishop Wood High School. Ms. Catherine Murray was named Principal, and Reverend James Beisel was appointed President. A state of the art baseball facility was constructed, and a multi-cast computer lab was completed.

In the spring of 1999, Reverend Joseph Kelley was appointed President. Over the next several years, every classroom was equipped with computers and Internet access.

Dr. Frederick Ciao was named President in 2003. Dr. Ciao has focused on making numerous improvements to the building and grounds with special focus on technology upgrades. The school's first ever capital campaign and development initiatives are addressing much needed tuition assistance programs.

Mrs. Mary Harkins added her talents to the school's administrative staff with her appointment as Principal in June of 2005.

In January 2010, Mr. Gary V. Zimmaro was named the fourth President of Archbishop Wood. Many additions and innovations have taken place including a Piano Lab and New Science Lab.

Development of the School Plant

Many changes have been made to the school facilities over the years. In 1987 Cardinal John Krol announced the construction of an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000. This new building would physically link the two school buildings as the original plans for the school had intended. Our beautiful auditorium, opened in 1989, stands as a lasting tribute to the generosity of Mrs. Sophia A. Friedman and the Friedman Family.

Archbishop Wood Today

The second decade of the 21st century has seen changes in all aspects of Archbishop Wood: the physical plant, academics, technology, the arts, activities and athletics.

New classroom doors have been installed throughout the building, four student lavatories have had total renovations, and the Library has become The Learning Commons. The Learning Commons is a relaxed and inviting space filled with technology where students work, study or collaborate. The Learning Commons also has a coffee shop for the students.

Many new electives and Advanced Placement classes have been added to our academic program. Each year over 125 junior and senior students take college courses either through the Diocesan Scholars Program or Dual Enrollment classes with Bucks County Community College. Wood101/Freshman Studies helps all 9th grade students become accustomed to high school and helps to prepare them for college and beyond. New for 2104-15 will be Virtual Learning Classes in Advanced Placement Calculus BC, AP Psychology and AP Micro and Macro Economics. Reflecting the interests of our students beyond high school, Wood has added a Medical Careers Academy and a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) program.

Technology is a major part of education at Wood. All classrooms are equipped with computers, smart boards and projectors. The entire building is wireless and students use their own devices (BYOD) in class. New classes in technology have been added, including web design, CAD and Virtual Business. Music is again part of the curriculum. Along with band classes, students have the opportunity to study piano and strings. The talents of our music students have been rewarded through membership in the All Catholic Music programs. Studio art students have been recognized with numerous awards and scholarships including two students who in recent years won the Dad Vail poster contest, placing their artwork throughout the city of Philadelphia.

New activities include Athletes Helping Athletes, THON based on the Penn State THON, Viking Night, the Mr. Viking Pageant, and our nationally recognized Robotics Team.

Since joining PIAA (Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association) in 2008, Wood has received 5 Gold Medals as State Champions and 7 Silver Medals as runners up. Our sports teams continue to win many Catholic League and District XII Championships.

While many Catholic schools have experienced a declining enrollment, Wood has been blessed with a stable student population. Recruitment and retention are important aspects of our school. The use of television and radio advertising has become staples of Wood's marketing program.

Many things change; many things stay the same. Students currently attending Archbishop Wood continue the Viking tradition of excellence in all aspects of our school's life. Most importantly each of our students is committed to being the best person he or she can be, taking care of each other and those in the community who are less fortunate.

As Archbishop Wood High School begins its second 50 years, it is well-positioned for continued growth and success in the future.

Sister Susan Walsh, RSM

Education/Arts/Entertainment

An influential and large part of the educational community, Sr. Susan Walsh, RSM, has continued the Catholic values taught to her at Archbishop Wood. Since her graduation in 1970, Sister has truly shown excellence in the field of Education.

During her time at Wood, Sister Susan Walsh was involved in multiple sports and clubs, and even received the Scholar Athlete award for her successes. She went on to receive her B.A. in Mathematics (Secondary Education) from Gwynedd Mercy College, her Masters of Arts in the Teaching of Mathematics from Villanova University in 1988, and Education Administration Graduate Studies at Gwynedd Mercy College from 1996-99. Sister has also received her Principal Certification. Sr. Susan Walsh carried on the Catholic teachings she learned at Wood by selflessly joining the Institute of the Sisters of Mercy of the Americas, and has been a loyal and faithful nun for the past 42 years. She was inspired to become a member of the religious community because of the Sisters who were so actively involved in her life at Wood. Not only has she passed on the Catholic values, but Sister has passed on her love of learning. She started teaching at St. Malachy School, which is her current parish, and has also taught mathematics, science and theology in upper grades, elementary, and secondary school at Gwynedd-Mercy Academy and Mercy Vocational High School. Sister was also the Vice Principal at Mercy Vocational High School, and is currently the Principal there.

Sister Susan Walsh's work extends far beyond the required curriculum. She has organized many service opportunities for her students, while altruistically volunteering at her parish as a lector, Eucharistic Minister, worship team member, member of the Education Committee of the School, and member of the parish council. Sister has also been a member of the Board of Trustees at Gwynedd Mercy Academy High School for the last 18 years. She was also the head volleyball coach at Wood for the first three years after she graduated, and was also a substitute teacher for the German language classes for three months during the 1970-71 school year, the first year after her graduation. In spite of all her work, Sister manages to find time to be an avid Phillies fan and loves to go to Spring Training and regular season games.

For exhibiting qualities of educational excellence for 42 years, we are proud to welcome Sr. Susan Walsh, RSM into the Archbishop Wood Hall of Fame.

Mr. Christopher Meister

Athletics

A member of the Class of 1998, Chris Meister has continually exhibited excellence, especially in the field of Athletics. Chris calls his decision to attend Archbishop Wood the best decision of his childhood, and so for his constant dedication to Wood, he is being inducted into the Hall of Fame.

During his four years at Wood, Chris was a three-year wrestling team captain, accumulated 118 career high school wins, won the Philadelphia Catholic League Championship three times, and was a two-time High School National Prep All-American, including his National Prep School Championship win in 1998. He went on to wrestle varsity at Lock Haven University, until transferring to Delaware Valley College his senior year, where he placed second at the Division III MAC Conference Championships and missed qualifying for the National Tournament by one match. Coach Meister graduated from Delaware Valley College with a degree in Business Administration - Finance. He also received his Master's degree in Real Estate Finance & Investments from Johns Hopkins University in 2010. He worked in the private sector as a real estate professional, financing, trading and owning real estate investments. After talks of dropping wrestling from the school's athletic program in 2011, Coach Meister took over the position of Wrestling Coach at Archbishop Wood. In 2013, he left the corporate world to focus full-time on coaching, and CrossFit and Olympic weightlifting. He implemented his knowledge of CrossFit and Olympic Weightlifting as part of the team's strength and conditioning program. Chris's efforts resulted in the wrestling program doubling its numbers his second year.

Aside from his business achievements, Coach Meister holds a certification as a Level-1 CrossFit trainer, USA Weightlifting-L1 SP, and CrossFit Olympic Lift Certification. He has been privately training athletes since 2009 and actively participating in CrossFit training for approximately 6-years. Coach Meister has been married to his wife Jenny Lynn for 11 years and the couple has three children. In addition to being a committed family man, he enjoys coaching the Viking Wrestling team, managing real estate investments and privately training athletes, and competing in wrestling and fitness competitions.

For exhibiting qualities of athletic greatness, we are proud to welcome Chris Meister into the Archbishop Wood Hall of Fame.

Sister Mary Pat Garvin, RSM

Religious

Sister Mary Pat Garvin, of the Class of 1973, discovered her love for teaching during her time at Archbishop Wood by tutoring for the Community Service Corps at Saint John Bosco School. Upon graduating from Wood, she attended Gwynedd Mercy College, where she received a degree in History, and Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy, where she received her bachelors, masters, and Ph.D. in Psychology. Sr. Mary Pat has since spent the past 35 years teaching elementary, secondary, and higher education in Pennsylvania, Florida, and Rome, as well as running seminars all over the world in countries such as Ethiopia, Ireland, and the Philippines. In addition to teaching, Sister Mary Pat Garvin has published various chapters and articles on Religious Life and the integration of theology and psychology in both international and national publications.

Sister found what she wanted to do for the rest of her life here at Wood and believes that she received an education that allowed her to grow spiritually and academically. Her favorite Wood memories include school plays and winning the Volleyball City Championship in 1970.

Sister Mary Pat Garvin presently lives near Washington D.C., serving on the general leadership team of the Sisters of Mercy of the Americas and on the Board of Cranaleith Spiritual Center in Philadelphia, PA. She definitely looks back on her years at Wood with deep gratitude and appreciation. Archbishop Wood congratulates Sister Mary Pat for her many accomplishments over the years!

The Honorable Mark A. Kearney

Business/Military

The Honorable Mark Kearney's efforts in the Archbishop Wood and entire Southeastern Pennsylvanian community have resulted in over twenty national, state and local awards, capped by his beloved Wood's selection of him as a member of its Hall of Fame. Since his graduation from Wood in 1980, Judge Kearney went on to be the first college graduate in his family, earning his B.A. in Economics and English with honors, and then his J.D. from Villanova University in 1987. Following law school, he served as a judicial clerk for the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware.

Following his clerkship, Judge Kearney joined Elliott Greenleaf & Siedzikowski, where he practiced law for over 27 years, and became a managing and hiring shareholder. A member of the Delaware and Pennsylvania Bars, Mark Kearney work's concentrated in litigation with special emphasis on the representation of business owners, investors, directors and officers. He was repeatedly elected (2011-2015) in a statewide poll of lawyers and judges as a Top 100 lawyer in Pennsylvania and Philadelphia. Benchmark Litigation selected him as one of only 50 "Litigation Stars" in Pennsylvania for 2013 and 2014. In addition, the Montgomery County Bar Association honored Judge Kearney as the 2014 Trial Lawyer of the Year. In December 2014, President Barack Obama commissioned Mark A. Kearney as the one-hundredth district court judge in the nation's first federal trial court. With this election, Judge Kearney became the first person elevated from the practice of law in Montgomery County directly to a federal trial or appellate court. Along with his incredible judicial career, the honorable Mark Kearney has been a large part of many organizations. Judge Kearney serves as the President of the Pennsylvania Bar Institute, and founder and chairperson of the Welcoming Center for New Pennsylvanians. He presently serves on Villanova Law School's most distinguished Board of Consultors, and served as the 2009 President of the Montgomery Bar Association and 2010-11 Chairman of the Montgomery Bar Foundation. He coached back-to-back little league baseball champions and started a thriving charity baseball tournament. Judge Kearney also has represented dozens of abused boys and girls in trials through the Montgomery Child Advocacy Project, and was a longtime director of Legal Aid of Southeastern Pennsylvania.

For exhibiting qualities of judicial greatness for over thirty years, we are proud to welcome Mark A. Kearney into the Archbishop Wood Hall of Fame.

Mr. Edward McCormick

Service to Archbishop Wood and the Wood Community

For Mr. Ed McCormick, Archbishop Wood will always be a home. From high school until now, he has always been a Viking and has so many great memories from going to school and coaching here. Mr. McCormick graduated from Kutztown University in 1985 and has since had a long and fulfilling career of 23 years as a sales representative with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, where he has received numerous sales awards. As a 25 year coach here at Archbishop Wood, Mr. McCormick has never lost touch with his Viking roots either.

Family and work take up a great amount of Mr. McCormick's time, but he still finds the time to give back to the community by coaching with many local youth organizations such as Warrington Warrior Football, Warrington/Warwick Basketball, and Nativity of Our Lord CYO.

Mr. McCormick currently lives in Jamison, PA with his wife Karen and children Kasey, Jake, and Kiki. He will always be a special part of the Wood community. Archbishop Wood is honored to present him with this award for all the service he has given!

Magisterial District Judge Daniel J. Finello Jr.

The Viking Award

Magisterial District Judge Daniel J. Finello Jr. has always played a big role in the Archbishop Wood community. After graduating from Wood in 1968 he went on to study Political Science at Lasalle, and has been a very busy man ever since.

Mr. Finello has been the Magisterial District Judge of Warminster Township and the Ivyland Borough since 2003, the District Judge Association of Bucks County Treasurer since 2007, and President of the District XII SCJAP (Bucks and Montgomery County Judges) since 2013. Mr. Finello plays a role in the community as well. He is an active member of the Warminster Rotary Club and is one of only six Pennsylvanians selected to be a delegate on the Democratic National Platform. Mr. Finello has also been involved in Archbishop Wood Girls' Soccer as the assistant to Mr. Bill Cappo since 2000. One cannot go without saying that Mr. Cappo and Mr. Finello have had huge success in girls' soccer, coaching the team to six Philadelphia Catholic League Championship games since 2008 including three titles, in 2009, 2010, and 2011.

Mr. Finello will forever be a busy man, but he always finds time for family. His two granddaughters Katie (age 3) and Nora (age 1) always spend time with him and his wife Nora. His family enjoys vacationing at the Jersey Shore and Disney World.

Mr. Finello has always loved Archbishop Wood and everything about it. The Wood community is extremely happy to honor his service both in and out of Wood by presenting him with the Viking Award!
