COLLEGE GRANTS, SCHOLARSHIPS, OR AMERICORPS BENEFITS

Your parent(s) reported taxable college grants, scholarships, or AmeriCorps benefits on your FAFSA form. Most families leave this question blank (or enter $0) because most scholarships and grants are not taxable, unless those award amounts exceed the total amount the student paid for tuition, fees, books, supplies, and required equipment. You should review the 2024 IRS Federal Tax Return to determine the amount to be included on the FAFSA Form.

- If the taxable portion was reported on a W2 form, it is listed as wages in Line 1a on the IRS Form 1040 or 1040-SR.
→ If the taxable portion was not reported on a W2, it is listed on Schedule 1, Line 8r

Table showing tax form line items: 8q Taxable distributions from an ABL... 8r Scholarship and fellowship grants... 8s Nontaxable amount of Medicaid waiver payments...

Please select one of the following:

- I do not have taxable income that should be included in the amount of college grants, scholarships, or AmeriCorps benefits reported on the FAFSA and it should be updated to $0.00.
I have taxable income that should be included in the amount of college grants, scholarships, or AmeriCorps benefits reported on the FAFSA. I am providing the following as supporting documentation:
→ A copy of my parent(s) IRS Form 1040 Page 1 & 2 (Signed on Page 2) AND
→ Schedule 1 (if reported as taxable income on Schedule 1, Line 8r)
→ W2 Form (if reported as taxable income on W2)
