

Sometimes they last for a long time, other times they last only days. Can you make some sculptures/digital photo diary a day like Andy Goldsworthy?

You could use: leaves, bark, sticks, mud, flowers, stones, ice, feathers, sand, light, reflections and shadows. He often makes spirals, circles, swirls and arches.

Task: Create a sculpture/digital photo diary using items in your home/garden/found on your daily walk if possible. Can you come up with a creative name for your sculpture/artwork? Think

'Andy Goldsworthy
style'Year 6 Art Competition

Andy Goldsworthy is a British sculptor, photographer and environmentalist. He lives in Scotland. He uses natural materials to make sculptures in sites in and around the UK. He has made them in forests, farms, fields, cities, mountains and more.

about your theme- it could be 'lockdown' related or not! You can use man-made or natural objects to create your sculpture. You may want to produce a digital diary- take a photo a day of your sculpture, if it's using a plant/flower/ice it will gradually decay. You may even want to draw from your photos as well.

- ▶ Please email Miss Tew (Head of Art and Photography) tew.e@stowevalley.com (Remember to pop your full name and primary school in the email title).
- ▶ We will be selecting a winner and a runner up. We look forward to seeing your entries, Good luck, The Art department 😊

Example Photo diary.... Flower sculpture... 2000 gerberas

Example drawing from your sculpture....

