Summary & Overview

Erin Glenn provided an overview of the Dallas Promise application process, emphasizing the necessity for students to choose the appropriate high school to avoid future issues. She announced an upcoming meeting to introduce a new dual credit participation process designed to simplify registration, moving away from the previous paper-based system. Key dates were highlighted, including the release of initial spring rosters and the campus closure over the holiday period.

Erin detailed the new electronic paperwork process for dual credit classes, which requires parental signatures before submission to counselors for bulk signing. Alanna Jefferson and others requested to be included in the meeting invite, which Erin agreed to facilitate. Dr. Brenton White inquired about the status of the Dallas Promise list, and Erin clarified that Dallas College does not oversee that area.
