This month in preschool:

Clothes

Our preschool class is diving into a "Clothes" unit, exploring types, textures, and fasteners to build vocabulary, self-help skills, and mathematical understanding through play.

Upcoming Highlights & Learning Focus:

Dramatic Play & Exploration: A laundry center with baskets and clotheslines will encourage sorting and fine-motor skills.

Math & Literacy: Activities include sorting by season, measuring with items like mittens, identifying patterns, and using buttons for counting.

Fine Motor Development: Focus on zipping, snapping, and buttoning to promote independence. Creative Play: Children will use Play-Doh to make shapes and explore textures.

How You Can Help:

- Explore Routines: Talk about the "why" behind what we wear. Point out the difference between cozy pajamas for bedtime and outside clothes for play. Ask what they love about the colors, the "fuzzy" or "smooth" textures, and how the clothes feel when they move.
- Read Together: Choose books that highlight different types of clothing. Point out similarities and differences in what the characters wear compared to your own family.

Spirit Gear: Update your wardrobe with our newest school gear—perfect for our upcoming Panda Pride Days on Feb 10th and Feb 27th.

Valentine Grams: Send a "beary" special message to a friend, teacher, or student.
