

Self-Directed Academy at Carl Ben Eielson

MIDDLE SCHOOL PROGRAM

INSTRUCTIONAL MODEL

SDA is a project-based, interdisciplinary learning community designed for students who are ready to take ownership of their education through meaningful projects, flexible pacing, and opportunities to demonstrate their learning in ways that reflect their strengths and interests.

Students take core academic courses as well as one project-based learning period in the Self-Directed Academy model.

SDA educators serve as advisors who co-design learning experiences, provide targeted instruction, and guide student inquiry.

SDA LEARNERS
