Woodcreek ATP Is Doing the Most (in the Best Way Possible) for Student Life Skills

Roseville, CA If you're looking for a dose of inspiration (and maybe a great cookie), look no further than Woodcreek High School's Adult Transition Program (ATP). Their student-led business, Wolf Pack Industry, is proving that the best way to learn life skills is by diving right in.

The ATP class at Woodcreek excels at building students up, giving them the tools to run a professional operation while gaining the independence they need for adulthood. From crafting floral arrangements to mastering the art of the "Dirty Soda," these students are the heart and soul of their campus economy.

The magic doesn't stop at the school gates. Three days a week, you'll find these students navigating the community, hopping on city buses to get to their job sites. It's a hands-on approach that turns classroom lessons into real-world confidence!

Want to see them in action? Here is the current Wolf Pack Industry weekly lineup:

- Mondays: Fresh floral arrangements and cookies made and sold on campus.
- Tuesdays: Heading out to local job sites.
- Wednesdays: Morning workouts followed by community job sites.
- Thursdays: Job sites and the fan-favorite "Dirty Sodas."

We invite our community to come down, grab a treat, and see firsthand how these students are building a brighter, more independent future!
