2. DATA COLLECTION ANALYSIS

2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	Various stakeholders reviewed multiple data sources to identify needs in the whole school program in May and June 2025. MAP data, PBIS SWIS data, WCSD Comprehensive Needs Assessment for Teachers Classified Staff, and Parents, Attendance Data, Demographic Data, and 24-25 Georgia Milestones data was reviewed to determine possible areas in need of improvement. The data reviewed included an analysis of strengths and weaknesses represented across available data sources.
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	Parents were surveyed at Youth Elementary on the School Climate Survey Family Response Report for 24-25. When asked about how they feel about Youth Elementary School, parents report that they feel the school is welcoming (98%) and safe (99%). Parents were also asked how responsive Youth Elementary School staff was at responding to their concerns. Parents responded that the responded to calls and emails on the same day or 1 day (98%), teachers responded in the same day or 1 day (95%). An opportunity for growth in our parental relationships was found in the parent response survey as well. Parents reported that they would like to see more communication on how to help their child at home. YES will continue to work to improve communication with parents and provide opportunities and information to assist in their student's education. According to the PBIS Survey, teachers feel that students are recognized for making good choices and problem behaviors are systematically addressed. The survey did reveal concern with discipline consequences for student behaviors that are repetitive and pervasive throughout the school day. CNA results indicate that teachers feel confident managing student discipline and engaging with families in meaningful communication. Additionally, staff report that services provided by support teachers have had a positive impact on student growth and academic progress.
What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information	PBIS Process - SWIS Data meetings and parent workshops)

What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question “What did you do for whom?”)	The SWIS data shows a large decrease the total of referrals from the 2023-24 school year (302) to the 2024-25 school year (177). Most major and minor incidents occurred in the classroom and were coded as classroom disruptions. In addition the data showed a increase in the number of OSS days from the 2023-24 school year (21.5) to the 2024-25 school year (30).
