EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATOR
OPEN MINDED

About Me

Hi im a 6th grader at Nathan Hale Middle School in Norwalk Connecticut. I have two siblings. I'm the youngest out of both of them. I have an older brother and older sister. Out of school I play soccer and basketball. My soccer team is called NJSA which stands for Norwalk Junior Soccer Association. My basketball team is called GBA which stands for Girls Basketball Association. In school I play basketball for the NHMS Patriots. I have 7 cousins. 4 on my dads side and 3 on my moms side. My aunt also has a dog. It's a mini golden doodle. At school I have a big friend group. Me and my friends do crazy things together but we make so many memories together!

I am an Effective Communicator when I talk, listen, and share my own ideas! At school I work well with my friends and classmates especially during group projects. Playing basketball for GBA and NHMS Patriots has taught me to listen to my teammates, the plays, and to be more communicative. Soccer with NJSA also has taught me to cheer on my teammates and give helpful tips and directions. Having older siblings has taught me to not always rely on them and solve problems myself. I like being a part of a big friend group because I get to hear different opinions and learn from others. I try to include everyone and make sure people feel comfortable sharing their thoughts and ideas. When someone is confused I try to explain things to them and help them understand better. These experiences have shown me that I am an effective communicator at school and in my everyday life.
