Summer CAMPS

Fuel Your Child's Curiosity: Dive into a Summer of STEM, Humanities, and Arts Adventures!

Our summer camps offer the perfect blend of hands-on scientific exploration and the rich world of media and communication arts and sciences. Whether your child is solving real-world problems through science and technology or through skills in leadership, storytelling, and communication arts and sciences, each activity is designed to ignite their imagination, foster critical thinking, and encourage a love of learning. Dive into a summer full of adventure, creativity, and discovery that will inspire your child's passion for both the wonders of the universe and the stories/communication that shape our world and our individual identities.
