

Dual Enrollment Readiness Quiz

Grab a pencil (or just your brain) and pick the answer that sounds the MOST like you.

Keep track of your letters!

1. When you think about taking college classes...

- A. Ooooh, exciting challenge—sign me up.
- B. I'm intrigued, but also mildly sweating.
- C. Sounds... intense. Maybe?
- D. Hard pass, I've got enough going on.

6. Group projects make you feel...

- A. Like the unofficial team captain.
- B. Capable but slightly annoyed.
- C. I'll do my part... probably the night before.
- D. I disappear into the mist.

2. Your current homework habits are basically...

- A. Color-coded planner, completed assignments, and vibes of academic domination.
- B. Pretty solid—I get things done, just not always early.
- C. Sometimes I'm on top of it... sometimes Netflix wins.
- D. Homework? Couldn't be me.

7. When teachers give big assignments with lots of instructions...

- A. I read everything and highlight key parts.
- B. I skim and hope for the best.
- C. I get confused but try to wing it.
- D. I ask, "So, what are we supposed to do?"

3. How do you handle deadlines?

- A. Done early and double-checked.
- B. I get it in on time—usually.
- C. I'm acquainted with late work forms.
- D. Deadlines feel like suggestions.

8. How comfortable are you asking for help (tutors, professors, advisors)?

- A. Totally comfortable—advocating for myself is ☐ a lifestyle
- B. I'll do it if I need to.
- C. Mildly terrified but willing.
- D. Absolutely not.

4. A college professor emails you with a syllabus attached. You...

- A. Open immediately, skim everything, add dates to planner.
- B. Scroll for key info; save the rest "for later."
- C. Glance at it, feel tired, close email.
- D. Email? I never check it.

9. Your schedule right now is...

- A. Busy but balanced—I make it work.
- B. Full, but I can squeeze in one more thing.
- C. Jenga tower of chaos.
- D. Already overflowing.

5. Your motivation style is best described as...

- A. Self-powered rocket ship.
- B. Motivated when I care about something.
- C. Needs occasional nudges.
- D. Requires industrial-strength reminders.

10. Why do you want to dual enroll?

- A. To challenge myself + get college credit.
- B. To explore interests and get a head start.
- C. Because everyone else is doing it.
- D. I don't - my parents are making me.

□ RESULTS □

Count how many A's, B's, C's, and D's you got!

□ Mostly A's — The Future College Legend

You're absolutely dual-enrollment-ready.

You're organized, motivated, and confident enough to handle college-level expectations. Professors will love you. Your planner already loves you.

Go for it.

□ Mostly B's — The Rising Scholar

You're close! With a bit of planning and support, you can totally thrive in dual enrollment. A few tips: stay organized, don't procrastinate, and ask for help early.

You're dual-enrollment-capable with minor prep.

□ Mostly C's — The "Maybe Later" Explorer

You've got potential, but consistency may not be your bestie yet. College classes move fast! Before jumping in, consider strengthening your time-management and study habits.

Consider trying an honors class or a low-stakes college class with structured support first.

□ Mostly D's — The Chill Academic Wanderer

No shame—dual enrollment might not be the vibe for you right now.

Your schedule or motivation suggests you'd benefit from focusing on high school courses first. That's ok - you're a high school student! You can always revisit dual enrollment later!

For now: focus on building habits, then reassess.