PLEASE NOTE for Athletics Eligibility:

If a DCHS athlete fails two or more classes during the second semester of the 2025/2026 school year, they will be ineligible to participate in any fall or the beginning of the winter sports season. However, they can regain their athletic eligibility by successfully completing summer school classes to replace the subjects they failed. Athletes must enroll in, and pass the necessary summer school classes to immediately resume participation in athletics. To remain eligible, all DCHS athletes are required to take five full-credit classes and maintain no more than one failing grade. Students with two or more Fs will be deemed ineligible.

It's also critical to understand that failing the "Personal Project" class affects athletic eligibility. For instance, failing both English and Personal Project means you will be ineligible for sports in both the fall and early winter due to having two failing grades.

Students will need to pass the same summer school course that they failed to regain eligibility and credit. Personal Project can be any elective course in summer school to regain eligibility.

Being aware of these rules helps ensure that all student-athletes can participate in sports while fulfilling their academic obligations. For any questions regarding athletic eligibility, please contact Mrs. Diane Shuck Gray, the DCHS Athletic Director, at 303-387-1206 or 719-684-6048, or via email at dhshuck@dcsdk12.org.

This program is specifically designed for credit recovery only and offers an opportunity for students who failed a class during the regular school year to earn the necessary credits they did not receive.

Students who achieve a 60% or higher in a class will receive credit.

Students who score a 59% or below will not earn credit.

Students need a total of 24 credits to graduate from the Douglas County School District.

Prospective summer school students must meet with their Douglas County High School counselor to complete the mandatory summer school registration form. The only way a student can take summer school classes is by meeting with their counselor and completing the registration form—no exceptions.

Key Information About DCHS Summer School:

Eligibility: Only students who failed a class during the regular school year are eligible to enroll in Douglas County High School Summer School.

Format: All classes are 100% online, allowing students to work at their own pace. Classes are hosted on an educational platform called Edgenuity.

Credit Recovery: This program is for students who need to retake a failed course to earn credit toward graduation.

Grade Replacement Is Not an Option: DCHS Summer School grades will not replace the original grade on a student's transcript. Instead, the new grade is averaged with the grade the student received during the regular school year. For true grade replacement, the Douglas County School District's EDCSD Summer School program (https://www.edcsd.org/enrollment/summer_school) offers this option. Please contact them for assistance.

Credit Advancement: DCHS's summer school program does not allow students to take courses to get ahead in their studies or credits. If you are seeking credit advancement, please explore other options within the district.

Other Options: Some high schools in the district offer in-person summer school, where students are taught face-to-face by teachers in a classroom setting. Douglas County High School does not offer in-person summer school—all instruction and coursework are conducted 100% online. For in-person options, contact Amie McCarty at Amie.McCarty@dcsdk12.org.

Athletics Eligibility:

Important for Athletes: If a DCHS athlete fails two or more classes during the second semester of the 2024/2025 school year, they will be ineligible to participate in fall or early winter sports. Athletes can regain eligibility by successfully completing summer school classes to replace failed subjects.

Athletic Requirements: Athletes must enroll in and pass the necessary summer school classes to immediately resume participation in athletics. To remain eligible, all DCHS athletes must:

- Take five full-credit classes during the school year.
- Maintain no more than one failing grade.
- Failing two or more classes, including Personal Project, makes students ineligible for sports. For example, failing both English and Personal Project would result in ineligibility for fall and early winter sports.

Summer school course fee is $300.00 per course. Students can take a maximum of 2 courses per session.
