

What is SARB

SARB was established by the California legislature in 1975 for the purpose of: making a better effort to meet the needs of students with attendance or behavior problems and promoting the use of alternatives to the juvenile court system. To achieve these goals, the legislation provides for a multi-agency SARB which includes many different agencies within the community.

The SARB process starts with the identification of attendance and/or behavior problems followed by classroom, school site and district level interventions.

SARB is specifically charged with finding solutions to unresolved student attendance and discipline problems by bringing together, on a regular basis, representatives of agencies that make up the board.

SARB further surveys available community resources, determines the appropriateness of their services, and makes recommendations to meet the needs of referred students.

SARB seeks to understand why students are experiencing attendance and behavior problems, and serves as a vehicle to correct those problems.

Who is referred to SARB? Students that are referred to SARB are those with chronic attendance problems and/or chronic behavior problems which have not been resolved through school and community efforts.
