DIRECTOR NOTES

Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to Sweet Apple, Ohio, where rock and roll has arrived and everything feels just a little bit brighter, louder, and more exciting.

Bye Bye Birdie captures the energy of a moment when teenagers, television, and pop music collided to create something brand new. For this production, we leaned into the bold colors and clean lines of Piet Mondrian, whose striking geometric style helped shape our vision of Sweet Apple. Just as Mondrian broke art into vibrant blocks of color and rhythm, this show bursts with personality, humor, and movement.

You may also notice a few nods to the legendary Bob Fosse. His signature style of sharp shapes, playful attitude, and stylized movement felt like the perfect inspiration for the musical's rock-and-roll spirit.

At its heart, Bye Bye Birdie is joyful, a little outrageous, and full of heart. Our students have embraced that spirit completely. Thank you for joining us and supporting student theatre. Now sit back, relax, and enjoy the show!

David Ross, Director

Bye Bye Birdie, in some regard, is a show about living your life to the fullest. We see characters, old and young, decide to take charge of their lives and face any fear they have regarding it. As actors, we are taught to be adaptable and take risks, and it's shows like this one that remind us of the thin line between what happens onstage and the lives we live offstage.

This is my second show as the lead student director, the third show in a row that I've both acted in and student directed, as well as my final show at West Bloomfield High School. Throughout these four years of my life, watching my peers and these wonderful new faces embrace each other and work together to share this story, or any, with all of you is an honor and a joy, and always has been. This entire company, no matter their role, has worked extremely hard from day one and as a director and a friend, I cannot be more proud.

Ladies and gentlemen, we've got a really big show for you tonight!

Sophia Knappe

Technical Director

is amazed to be pulling off another fun production at WBHS! She wants to warmly welcome David and Jolene to the team and thank them, as well as Christy, John H. and John V. for their hard work and enthusiasm. Sophia also wishes to thank Craig, Michelle and Seleste for their invaluable help and the Boosters for supporting the program.

John Verloove

Assistant Technical Director

"put on a happy face" and came back for his 3rd production of Bye Bye Birdie! He previously was technical director for WBHS' 2014 version, and played Albert Peterson in his 9th grade version at James Rogers Junior High School. He would like to remind Sophia that he "doesn't work here" for the 1000th time.

CREW WHO'S WHO

Christy Forhan

Costume Designer

The Costume Team took inspiration from garments originally made for WBHS's 1997 production of Bye, Bye Birdie. Fortunately, these pieces survived nearly thirty years of storage in our costume wardrobe. We supplemented as needed to create bright, colorful vintage styled outfits to suit each character. Thanks to the student costumers, the adults who assisted, and especially to the seniors who have worked on costumes all four years (Jordan, Laila, Katelyn,and Shyla).

Lili Williams

Hair and Makeup Design

Though this is Lili's first show that she has done hair and makeup for, she is no stranger to the theatre. She has done theatre since she was 12 and has danced since she was 3 years old. Lili decided to take a break from performing to focus on getting an education in cosmetology at L'esprit Academy Canton. Though she may not be on stage, she still wants to keep in touch with the theatre world by doing hair and makeup backstage. In the times that Lili was performing, you may have seen her as Morticia Addams in The Addams Family or as Leanne in Puffs last year at Franklin High School. She is SO grateful that Mr. Ross gave her this opportunity and trusting her abilities even though she is still in school. She would also like to thank her parents for being her biggest cheerleaders in everything she does. Enjoy the show!

Lucy Barber

Hair and Makeup Design

is happy to be consulting her fourth production at WBHS. She recently worked as a mentor for Matilda. In 2003, she graduated with a degree in Theater from Brigham Young University where she was hair and makeup supervisor her last semester. She also bridged the gap between theater and film by working on a number of independent short films as head makeup designer. She maintained her theater skills by teaching makeup classes, making costumes for her children, coaching Math Pentathlon and event planning for various things. Lucy hopes to inspire the next generation of creators.
