The students and staff from the schools and programs held at the Agassiz Building, including Dakota High School, Early Childhood Special Education, Adult Learning Center, the Self-Directed Academy, and Virtual Academy are coming together to share their talents at the Agassiz Variety Show on Tuesday.

The Agassiz Variety Show unites student and staff performers from each of the building's programs, represented by individuals of all ages from pre-kindergarten through adults and from a wide variety of countries and cultures. Performances will include singing by preschoolers, piano playing, spoken word poetry, vocal performance, and more.

The event aims to promote interactions between the participants of the educational programs housed at Agassiz and to continue building a positive culture throughout the building.
