

On Saturday, April 25th, 25 members of Greenport's National Honor Society and National Junior Honor Society, along with their advisors, Brian Holt and Julia Labrozzi-Cantley, gathered together for an exhilarating polar plunge adventure at Splish Splash Water Park in Calverton. They raced into the freezing cold water, all in the name of raising funds and awareness for the New York Special Olympics. This is our fourth year participating in this event, and we had the largest group there!

Raising over $2,500, Greenport students not only quadrupled their initial goal but made the top 5 on the Cool School Leaderboard for the second year in a row (this year, we were #2 overall!)

It was a thrilling and rewarding experience that truly showcases their commitment to making a positive impact in their community and beyond. Great job to our NJHS/NHS members and a very heartfelt thank you to everyone who donated to this great organization. A great time was had by all!
