Prediction Essay

This essay is a combination of different topics. These topics will have my predictions of what changes there ~~will be~~ the next fifty years.

My first topic will cover transportation. I don't feel there will be much change in transportation. One change I feel will happen is that ~~the~~ South Shore Station will be closed down in Michigan City. Another possible change is there will be a new type of fuel for cars. I don't really think there will be any other changes in transportation with great importance.

my next topic will be in education. There will probably be some new schools and most likely different teaching methods. The new methods will probably make it so the students don't rely so much on the teachers' help but on himself.

Energy is my next topic. There will probably be more solar energy around and NIPSCO will probably change their coal and water methods.

Government and laws will be the topics I will try to make predictions about next. Our government will stay the same, but we will, of course, have different officials. Laws will change. There will probably be a lot of stuff legalized and a lot made illegal. The courts' punishments will probably go more toward fines rather than jail sentences.

The next topic, religion, will may only have a few small changes.

Sports and types of recreation will change. I think that recreation may go indoors. Sports will probably have better ways of protecting their athletes. And last, there will probably be a couple of newly formed sports.

My last topic is housing. Housing will probably be mainly out in the country. The people possibly may be starting to move back into the cities

in the future.

In the future Michigan
City will still be growing and there may be some new types of places
for the citizens' recreation, Michigan City of course will change in the next fifty years,
with new inventions,
but I don't feel
it will change a great deal.
