Ashwaubenon High School Student to Receive Surprise Award from Brown County Home Builders Association

ASHWAUBENON, WI — On Tuesday, May 12, the Ashwaubenon High School tech ed department will host representatives from the Brown County Home Builders Association (BCHBA) for a surprise award presentation honoring a local student's excellence in residential design.

The ceremony will take place during the 4th-hour Civil Engineering and Architecture class. Members of the BCHBA will be on-site to announce the winner of the Home Plan Design Competition, an annual challenge that tasks students across Brown County with creating professional-grade home designs.

To maintain the spirit of the event, the specific identity of the winner and their exact ranking remain a secret, as the district and the BCHBA intend to surprise the student in front of their peers and instructors.

The winning project was developed as a core assignment within the AHS Civil Engineering and Architecture course. Throughout the semester, students followed a rigorous engineering design process to create functional, aesthetically pleasing home plans that met specific criteria set by industry professionals.
