

Dreams Ahead- Nothing's gonna stop me

I am what I do. I have dreams, and no one is going to stop me. To accomplish my dreams, I have to be willing to put my best effort in everything I do. Living in America for me is being disciplined in the work I do so people can look to me for help. I do my work because I have parents who will drive me to my sports, teach me to be the best person I can, and give me a home. I work hard because my parents, friends, and myself all gave up too much to forget who I am and where I come from. These six words don't explain a point in my life, they explain a journey. Words that have pushed me harder so I can remember "Why". Why I do hard things and why I keep pushing myself to learn more. America has and will keep opening more and more paths for my future and a past I can be proud of.
