DIRECTOR'S NOTE

For the last three months, I have found myself repeating a simple line from Jack Kelly: "Newsies, circle up!" Whether it was to begin rehearsal or to grab the attention of our spirited cast, I returned to this refrain early and often. At first, it felt like a simple way to keep things moving at rehearsal. As time has gone on, its true meaning has taken shape.

On the surface, Newsies is a lot of things. It's chock full of soaring musical numbers, flashing lights, Brooklyn bravado, villainous plots, and heroic redemption. Today, we're thrilled to share those moments with you. However, like the heart of the show itself, the core of our production was something much simpler: unity in the face of a challenge.

So, as I repeated Jack Kelly's rallying cry, I grew to feel the core of our show. No matter how the day had gone for the cast and crew before arriving in the theater, Newsies needed to stick together. And so they did - with joy and enthusiasm - throughout the spring. And so they will for all of you here today.

I am incredibly grateful to the cast and crew for the effort, talent, and collaboration they brought to this show. To the directors who shaped the production and the families who supported it over the last three months - thank you. Finally, thank you for being here. Please enjoy the show.
