

10th Grade English
Summer Reading
2026

Upper School Community Summer Read
Required of All Students

Title: Make Your Bed: Little Things That Can Change Your Life... and Maybe the World

Author: Admiral William H. McRaven

ISBN: 978-1455570249

Please note that the required reading is Admiral McRaven's book Make Your Bed, not the original speech or the companion piece, Make Your Bed: A Daily Journal.

Reading Deadline: Thursday, August 6, 2026

English Seminar
Required of all Non-AP Students

Title: Fahrenheit 451

Author: Ray Bradbury

ISBN: 978-1451673319

Students will take a summer reading test during the first week of school.

Students should not only closely read and annotate their texts, but should also be conversant with the following characters and concepts in such a way that they can substantively analyze them in writing for that test.

Click HERE for details about characters, groups, concepts, objects, and themes.

AP English Seminar Required of all AP Students
	Title: Fahrenheit 451 Author: Ray Bradbury ISBN: 978-1451673319 AP Seminar broadly seeks to answer three simple questions: What makes a source worthy? Why do sources matter? How do sources clarify? Students should click HERE to access important terms and questions before reading the book, as well as the project requirements on page 5. Projects must be submitted on the first day of school, Thursday, August 6, 2026.
