The Honoring Life Program is an American Indian Youth Suicide Prevention Research which aims to grow and evaluate tribal-specific surveillance, linked case management, and brief interventions to reduce suicide risk and promote resilience among Native youth ages 10-24.

NATIONAL SUICIDE PREVENTION LIFELINE™
1-800-273-TALK
www.suicidepreventionlifeline.org

ASIST

safeTALK

HONORING LIFE PROGRAM

JOHNS HOPKINS CENTER FOR INDIGENOUS HEALTH

1228 Yucca Dr
Shiprock, NM 87420

(505) 368-4030

info@honoringlife.org
www.honoringlife.org

CRISIS TEXT LINE

text
TALK to 741741

HONORING LIFE

PROGRAM

The Honoring Life program aims to prevent suicide by providing case management services to reduce risks, promote resilience and facilitate connections to care among Navajo and other Native youth 10-24 years of age.

HONORING LIFE

Case management to provide support and connections to care

Monitoring of trends over time to better understand and respond to risk

Implementing brief culturally-informed interventions

ASIST

ASIST is a 2 day interactive workshop in suicide first aid training

PROVEN RESULTS

38%

Program contributed to a 38% decrease in deaths by suicide in a Native American community in the Southwest

100%

Care provided by Native community members trained in best practices for suicide related case-managment

