CHOOSING A COUNSELOR

A guide to seeking mental health care in Northeastern Wisconsin

Finding the right mental health professional for your needs can be difficult. While choosing a counselor is a personal decision, there is information about counseling agencies and private practice offices in Northeastern Wisconsin that can help you find mental health professionals that fir your needs, budget, and schedule. See below for an introduction to some of the various types of health professionals that exist, and what types of services they are able to provide.

The following types of professionals are included in this resource:

⇒ If you are looking for someone to talk to about stresses or issues going on in your life, you may want to seek out a counselor or therapist.

⇒ If you are looking for someone to prescribe or monitor medicine, consult either a psychiatrist or a psychiatric nurse practitioner.

⇒ If you are looking for someone to assess and diagnose your condition, consider seeking out a clinical psychologist.

⇒ If you are looking for someone to support with behavioral and emotional challenges with youth in a non-residential setting, consider connecting with a day treatment provider.

⇒ If you are experiencing a mental health crisis, connect with a crisis counselor or seek out inpatient mental health support.

If you are in a mental health emergency, or need to talk to a counselor right away, call the CRISIS LINE at (715) 845-3240 or (888) 238-3253 anytime, 24 hours a day.
