All 9th CP students should read:

The Diary of a Young Girl By: Anne Frank

All students are required to read The Diary of a Young Girl in its original diary form. Prior exposure to the text, play adaption, and/or movie does not fulfill this requirement. Students are expected to read the complete diary and will be assessed on the original text.

AND

To Kill a Mockingbird By: Harper Lee

Disclaimer: To Kill a Mockingbird depicts the upsetting yet accurate portrayal of racial injustices in history. There is some strong language that carries much hatred, violence, and ignorance to it. That language has no place in our community, school, and my classroom; furthermore, those words should not be repeated. Please do not take personal offense when reading this story, as it is not meant to target anyone. This will be addressed further during the first week of school.

Please be prepared to discuss, write about, and take a quiz on both books during the first week of school.
