

THE LAST ARTICLE...

This is Ember Dutcher, signing off for what may be the final time.

The end of a journey that has lasted an entire school year, countless deadlines, several questionable ideas that somehow became published articles, and enough dramatic storytelling to fuel a soap opera for at least three seasons. I never thought this day would come...

click below for entire article