Galloway

Dear Early Learning Families,

Happy Summer, and welcome to the Galloway Early Learning community! As we look ahead to August, I want you to know how excited I am to partner with our wonderful Assistant Principals, teachers, and staff as we welcome your children to campus. Whether your family is new to Galloway or returning for another year, we are grateful that you are part of our community and cannot wait to begin this journey together.

Summer is a special season in the life of a child. It offers opportunities to explore, discover, create, and simply enjoy being together as a family. As I reflect on some of my favorite summer memories, I realize many of them were rooted in simple experiences that continue to inspire me today. I encourage you to embrace opportunities this summer to:

Cultivate a sense of wonder.
From fireflies to fireworks, summer is full of moments that spark curiosity and joy. Take time to slow down, ask questions, and marvel at the world through your child's eyes.

Embrace nature.
Whether it's a walk through the neighborhood, time at a park, or a day spent near water, nature offers endless opportunities for exploration and connection. Some of my happiest summer memories involve being outdoors and enjoying the simple beauty around me.

Nurture creativity.
Create, build, paint, draw, sculpt, sing, dance, and imagine. Summer is the perfect time to let creativity flourish in whatever form brings your child joy.

Read for pleasure.
One of the greatest gifts we can give children is a love of reading. Enjoy stories together, visit your local library, and make space for books that inspire laughter, wonder, and imagination.

Rest and restore.
Summer also provides a chance to slow down. Unstructured play, family time, and moments of rest are just as important as any planned activity.

Most importantly, enjoy this time together. The memories made during these summer months often become the stories children carry with them for years to come.

We are so excited to welcome you to campus soon and look forward to getting to know your family in the months ahead. Until then, enjoy a wonderful summer, and know that we are eagerly preparing for an incredible year together.

Warmly,
Meg Goldner Rabinowitz
