Galloway

Dear Middle Learning Families,

Happy Summer, and welcome to Galloway Middle Learning! As the Principal of Middle Learning, it is my sincere pleasure to welcome your family to our community. Whether you are joining Galloway for the first time or transitioning into Middle Learning from another division, we are excited to partner with you and your child during this important stage of growth, discovery, and independence.

Middle Learning is a special time in a student's journey. It is a season filled with new experiences, meaningful relationships, increased responsibility, and countless opportunities to explore interests and passions. Our goal is to create an environment where students feel known, supported, challenged, and inspired to become their best selves.

As you enjoy the summer months, I encourage you to take time to connect as a family, explore new interests, and embrace the adventures that summer offers. These experiences often help students build confidence, curiosity, and resilience—qualities that serve them well both inside and outside the classroom.

One of the things that makes Galloway so special is our strong sense of community. I hope you will take advantage of opportunities this summer to begin building connections with other families. Your New Family Ambassadors are a wonderful resource as you transition to Galloway, and our summer camp programs provide another great way for students to become familiar with campus, meet future classmates, and connect with members of our faculty and staff.

As we prepare for the start of school, please know that our team is hard at work getting everything ready for a fantastic year ahead. Throughout the summer, additional information regarding schedules, summer assignments, school resources, and important back-to-school details will be shared through MySchoolApp and the New Family webpage. You should have also received communication from our Assistant Principal, Mike Bennett, regarding scheduling, placement assessments, and elective course selections.

Later this summer, I will be in touch with additional information about our New Family Orientation on August 12. I am looking forward to welcoming you to campus and helping your family begin this exciting new chapter.

Until then, enjoy a wonderful summer, make lasting memories, and know that we are eagerly awaiting your arrival. Welcome to Galloway, and welcome to Middle Learning!

Warmly,

Candace Bell
