

Parent Form for Preparing for the IEP Team Meeting

What do you want the team to know about your child?

You are the expert on your child! Everyone on the individualized education program (IEP) team brings knowledge and expertise to help develop a high-quality IEP that meets your child's needs. The information you share is critical. When completing this information, consider:

- reviewing your child's past IEP, progress toward current IEP goals, and samples of schoolwork and
- asking your child about any concerns or encouraging your child to complete the Student Form for Preparing for the IEP Team Meeting.

Document your responses below and share them with the IEP team a couple of weeks before the IEP meeting. Bring a copy of your responses to the meeting for reference.

What are your main goals and priorities for your child?

What are your goals for your child's future?	What are the most important things you want your child to accomplish this year?

What are your child's strengths and needs?

What does your child do well?	What does your child need help with? What are your biggest areas of concern?

How can the school support your child?

When completing this section, think about what services and supports have been or might be helpful, as well as about what has not previously worked for your child at school, in the home, and in the community.

What services and supports have worked for your child?	What services and supports have not worked well for your child?	Are there any services and supports you think might help your child?

Is there anything else you want the school to know to support your child?

PROGRESS Center

at the American Institutes for Research® ■

1400 Crystal Drive, 10th Floor | Arlington, VA 22202-3289

202-403-5000 | www.air.org

www.promotingprogress.org

This material was produced under the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs, Award No. H326C190002. David Emenheiser serves as the project officer. The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the positions or policies of the U.S. Department of Education. No official endorsement by the U.S. Department of Education of any product, commodity, service, or enterprise mentioned in this resource is intended or should be inferred.

Notice of Trademark: "American Institutes for Research" and "AIR" are registered trademarks. All other brand, product, or company names are trademarks or registered trademarks of their respective owners.