| 7790 | 1000.02.4220.400.800.005.1604 | 4 | Visit Resolution: 10-4-22 Arrived on site and met Rick, gained access to roof, found unit and attempted to start heat, confirmed unit was receiving a start stop call from bms. Shut off disconnect, tightened electrical connections and traced out wires, electrical compartment is very disorganized which makes trouble shooting safely difficult, recommend having wiring organized on completion of repairs. Energized unit and checked voltages as well as traced out 24v controls, maxitrol board is receiving 24 volts but is not outputting any voltages, none of the three boards had any led lights and at one point a relay was shattering. Electrical compartment should be sealed water was getting inside cabinet from roof. Unit needs new maxitrol board, recommend replacing board bellow it as well, caused most likely from the water getting into electrical compartment, Also recommend some time being spent cleaning up the wiring to the unit. Unit has no wiring diagram. | 640.00 | | |

Reset and unit cycled on. Follow up with controls contractor. These are the units with seized outside air dampers. Checked AHU 3 and found burnt wire on disconnect. Repaired wiring but found connection on ABB disconnect to have melted lug. Replacement required. Checked operation and determined that current sensor on supply fan to be faulty. Located and picked up replacements. Located controller for AHU 2 and found heat wheel commanded on but not receiving 24 volts to relay at heat wheel. Began tracing out wiring. Follow up required. 10/24/22 s.d. Replaced faulty current sensor on supply fan on AHU 3. Cycled and confirmed proper operation of unit. Replaced faulty current sensor on return air fan motor on AHU 1. Unit not commanded on at this time. Checked AHU 2 and found heat wheel bypass damper to have become disengaged. Repaired and cycled actuators. 10/25/22 s.d. Worked with TC controls to troubleshoot AHU 1 and were able to determine that supply fan velocity controller needs to be replaced. | 9884 | 1000.22.4230.400.900.005.1624 | | 13 | 12/14/22- arrived on site and checked in with John, found main IDF room well above set point at 78 degrees Fahrenheit. discharge air temp of evaporator was 80F, ran unit through operating modes while checking for error codes, no errors appeared. reset unit and monitored, discharge air temp dropped to 60F. Gained access to condenser, attached gauges to condenser and checked pressures. Pressures indicate unit could be be low on charge, it is hard to be certain due to outside air conditions/high winds. suction pressure and head pressure were low but not out of range. Observed evaporator temp was between 33-38 degrees, Space temp began to drop before leaving Brought move in cool down to space as a precaution. Recommend monitoring unit closely due the importance of oom, refrigerant charge will need to be recovered and compared to the units name plate factory charge to see if unit has a leak, charging unit with new gas will eliminate the possibility of non-condensables in the system. While on site-Reset FCU-13, investigated ongoing issue. Will follow up with controls. 12/20/22- recovered refrigerant from system, weighed out 2 lbs 3oz. Name plate states unit should have 4.2 lbs. charged system with nitrogen and leak checked. Found leak at condenser isolation valves. Made repairs and pressure checked. Evacuated piping and charged system with 4.2lbs of fresh 410a. Started unit and checked operation. Unit is now fully operational and space is back down to set point. | | 2,080.00 | | |

Exhaust fan and gas valve are operational. This problem I believe is related to faulty controllers. Slowed down noisy exhaust fan and greased bearings. ( bearings will need to be replaced during school vacation periods) Reset frequency drive on RTU 9 supply fan and was able to get motor back on line.(new motor has been orders). I was asked to check kiln room which was overheating. Checked vav box and found actuator on heating valve had failed. Shut supply valve until actuator can be replaced. | 12172 | 1000.22.4230.400.900.005.1624 | | | 2 | We found and repaired a void in a seam which was billed to JM under the warranty. We also inspected a leak that was due to skylight where wall came down on the inside. It appears the water table caulking has failed. We took outloose caulking and applied new to open areas. The mortar on the other side was suspect as well so we applied caulking. This was non-warranty and owner is responsible. | | 450.00 | | |

We checked operation of unit and found heating valve commanded 100% open, outside air dampers fully open and compressors running. We determined that valve had been opened on a control tech level. Released overrides and monitored unit which began to run normally. I spoke with factory rep at KCC and found there are upgrades to control system available. | 640.00 | | |

Problem Description: SPOT VAV CONTROLLER REPLACEMENT
Chris Cairns - Control Project Leader 3-1-23 VAV-10 A technician on a previous visit deemed VAV 10 to have a bad controller. Investigated this controller and realized that the controller was fine. This controller did have a power issue which was fixed. Once I had power back to the controller I downloaded the program so I could test for functionality. Once the program was working properly I then uploaded it back in to the VAV 10 controller. Ran through the sequence test of the VAV and everything is working properly now. Room 212 VAV 58 The VAV Controller in room 212 was bad. Had to find a VAV Controller that had close to the same type of program in it so I could download the program to my laptop. After digging around the BMS system, room 209 was the closest program I could find. After I downloaded 209's program I started installing the new VAV controller. Once I installed the new controller I had to discover it on the database and on the SA Bus. The new Controller is powered up and on there net work. More time and work is needed with the program before I upload it to the new VAV Controller.
