

Alex Oakley

Contact: alexoak96@outlook.com

Alex Oakley is an actor and theatre technician from Warner Robins, GA living in Atlanta. He received a BA in Theatre and Communications and Rhetoric Studies from Oglethorpe University. He works as a freelance theater professional in Atlanta where he worked on backstage crews with the Alliance Theater, Theatrical Outfit, Synchronicity Theatre, Horizon Theatre, and Georgia Ensemble Theatre. He also performs for Elementary-age children across the Metro Atlanta area with The Adventures of Hernando De Soto as told by survivor Juan Rodriguez.

Dr. Diabolical's Chemical and Physical Lab

Dr. Dastardly Diabolical is looking for new recruits who can spot the difference between chemical and physical change. Students will be tested through a series of experiments designed to teach various properties and indicators of chemical change. Strap on your goggles because this show is going to get messy!

Set Up Requirements:

Please plan to host performance in a large, cleared, quiet area such as your media center. Dr. Diabolical will need a table, trash can, and access to a projector. After the program he will need access to a washbasin or rinse sink.

5th Grade
Georgia Standards of Excellence: S5P1