Pastor's Note

The theme of this year's magazine, Rooted in Faith, Growing in Excellence, says something simple but profound about who we are.

As I reflect on my time serving at St. Anne Church and St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School, I am filled with gratitude for this faithful community that has become such an important part of my priesthood. While I have been reassigned to serve as Vicar General at the Catholic Pastoral Center in Savannah, I will always carry with me the many blessings, friendships, and memories we have shared together.

What makes St. Anne-Pacelli so special is that we are rooted in something far deeper than academics, athletics, or activities - we are rooted in Jesus Christ. Faith shapes our mornings in prayer, our conversations in the hallways, the way we care for one another, and the values we strive to live each day. It reminds us that what we learn is not simply for success in school, but for living lives of purpose, service, and holiness.

A Catholic education forms the whole person. We seek not only to develop strong minds, but also faithful hearts and virtuous character. Inspired by the rich tradition of the Church and the example of saints such as St. John Bosco, St. Elizabeth Ann Seton, and the Sisters of Mercy, we are called to guide our young people to know what is true, love what is good, and choose what is right. In our classrooms, on our athletic fields, and throughout our parish life, I have witnessed students growing in faith, integrity, compassion, and courage.

I have also seen firsthand that excellence at St. Anne-Pacelli means much more than achievement alone. We celebrate accomplishments, scholarships, championships, and milestones, but true excellence is becoming the person God created us to be. It is learning to work hard, serve generously, remain faithful, and stand firmly in our values even when it is difficult.

As I begin this new chapter in Savannah, my prayer for St. Anne Church and St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School is that you continue to grow deeply rooted in Christ and bear abundant fruit for generations to come. When faith is our foundation, growth follows naturally. May the Lord continue to bless this parish and school community, bringing each of us closer to Him all the days of our lives.

Thank you for allowing me the privilege of serving as your pastor. You will always remain in my prayers.

Fr. J. Scott Winchel

Principals' Message

FORMING HEARTS, MINDS, AND FUTURES

Dear St. Anne-Pacelli Families, Alumni, and Friends,

It is with gratitude and pride that we reflect on the many blessings of the 2025–2026 school year. Each day, our campus is alive with the energy of students discovering their gifts, growing in faith, and striving for excellence in all they do.

At every level - from Preschool through 12th grade - we remain committed to forming the whole child: spiritually, academically, socially, and physically. Our students are challenged in the classroom, strengthened through prayer and worship, inspired through the arts, and shaped by competition, teamwork, and service.

This year, we celebrated many accomplishments: academic achievements, athletic victories, artistic performances, and countless moments of kindness and leadership that reflect the strength of our Catholic identity. None of this would be possible without our dedicated faculty and staff, supportive parents, generous benefactors, and faithful parish community. Most importantly, we thank God for the opportunity to guide young people as they grow into thoughtful leaders and compassionate disciples of Christ.

Thank you for being an essential part of our school family and for supporting our mission.
We invite you to enjoy this magazine as a celebration of the students, traditions, and community that make our school so special.

With gratitude and blessings,

Carolyn Brewster

PRESCHOOL

Our Preschool program provides a warm, faith-filled environment where our youngest learners begin their educational journey. Through purposeful play, structured learning, and gentle guidance, students develop early literacy, foundational math skills, social confidence, and independence. They even learn Spanish!

Daily prayer, Bible stories, and lessons in kindness help children understand God's love while building habits of compassion and respect. Hands-on exploration, creative activities, and themed learning units spark curiosity and enthusiasm for school.

From the first day of preschool, our students are known, loved, and encouraged - setting the stage for lifelong learning.

Nurturing Wonder. Joyful Beginnings.

FAITH IN EDUCATION

The Beauty of Confession
By Caroline Jackson
Class of 2027

Before Pacelli students were released for Spring Break, one of our principals came over the intercom and intermittently released each grade to attend and participate in the Sacrament of Penance. While our school does not require Confession - since not all students are Catholic - our administrators strongly encourage the experience. The formal Penance Service is held twice a year for St. Anne-Pacelli students, during Advent and Lent, and on each occasion, Catholics and non-Catholics alike come to cleanse themselves of their sins or seek spiritual guidance.

The Penance Service is a unique aspect of attending a Catholic school, so I wanted to dive deeper into the tradition and explore what makes it so special. When I offered to write this article, I made a promise to myself: this year, I would join my Pacelli peers.

Now, if you've been reading closely, you may have realized that I have yet to go to a Penance Service in my 17 years of life. That likely makes me one of the least qualified people to speak on the fruits that can grow from uprooting the weeds of sin.

However, I began to see it differently. If I could use this opportunity to convince myself - as a non-Catholic - that working up the courage to go could become a habit, and a habit that could change my life for the better, then perhaps I am exactly the right person for the job.

To do this, I decided to approach this opportunity from two perspectives: the confessee and the confessor. Luckily, I had access not only to research, but to an actual living, breathing priest (one of the best, if I do say so myself).

St. Anne Church's Parochial Vicar, Fr. Kevin Braski, graciously agreed to speak with me about what happens on the other side of the confessional screen.

I eagerly asked him questions, ranging from the inner thoughts of a priest to the role he plays as a vessel of God's mercy. His answers were both insightful and beautiful. Although anyone can come to the priest, he said, priests can only absolve

Catholics. He noted those coming who aren't Catholic would be seeking guidance or spiritual counseling.

Fr. Braski described the humility required to hear confessions, as well as his own practice of going to Confession twice a month. Along with this humility, he spoke honestly about the exhaustion that can follow hearing many confessions. There is a real weight, he explained, in listening to another person open their soul, and in offering them the patience, care, and mercy they need. Even with God's help, it is not an easy task.

To help me better understand, Fr. Kevin shared an analogy first introduced by theologian Thomas Aquinas. He compared a priest's role in Confession to an axe in the hands of a lumberjack. In this analogy, God would use the priest as an instrument or vessel of his mercy to forgive sins as a lumberjack would use an axe to cut down a tree. The axe cannot cut down the tree without the strength and will of the lumberjack, just as the priest cannot forgive sins without God allowing him to do so through his ordination as a priest. It is God who is ultimately forgiving the sins, but the priest is also forgiving sins by being used as a vessel or instrument of God's mercy. The priest is not forgiving sins in his name but in God's name as a priest.

Even after this, I still had questions…especially about my own hesitations. I asked how a priest feels when hearing a particularly deep or difficult confession. Not because I feared my sins were too great, but because I wanted to confront a more universal fear: the fear of being seen. Fr. Kevin's response immediately put me at ease. He explained that each priest experiences Confession differently - some forget what they hear quickly, while others may mix up confessions simply because of the volume they receive. But more importantly, he shared what goes through his mind as he listens.

He said he never feels anger or disgust toward the person confessing. Instead, any sense of frustration is directed toward the darkness that may have influenced them. What moves him most, he explained, is the realization that someone may have believed that darkness was their only option. He feels a kind of sorrow, not for the sinner, but that he couldn't have been there beforehand to remind them that there was always another way, a light they could have chosen instead.

Hearing this left me speechless. It felt as though his words carried something greater than himself, as if they echoed the voice of God. In that moment, any doubt I had about the sanctity and beauty of the Sacrament of Penance began to fade.

Beyond academics, students grow through:

- Campus ministry and retreats
- Service-learning opportunities
- Leadership roles in clubs and organizations
- Athletics and fine arts programs

Our guidance counselor works closely with students to support college planning and scholarship applications. By graduation, our seniors leave prepared not only for academic success, but also for lives of faith, service, and purpose.

At Pacelli, our seniors leave their mark before graduation. Each student completes a Senior Project that includes 20 hours of service, mentorship, and a meaningful contribution to the school or community, preparing them for a life of purpose and impact.

For her senior project, Charlotte Frisch designed and built a hydroponic garden system that will supply fresh lettuce to MercyMed year-round - making a lasting impact well beyond graduation. MercyMed serves our community by providing affordable primary healthcare, nutrition support, and access to fresh, healthy food for those who need it most. With the help of farm manager Keith Simms and her project mentor, Scott Chandler, this system is expected to produce up to 120 heads of lettuce every 30 days!

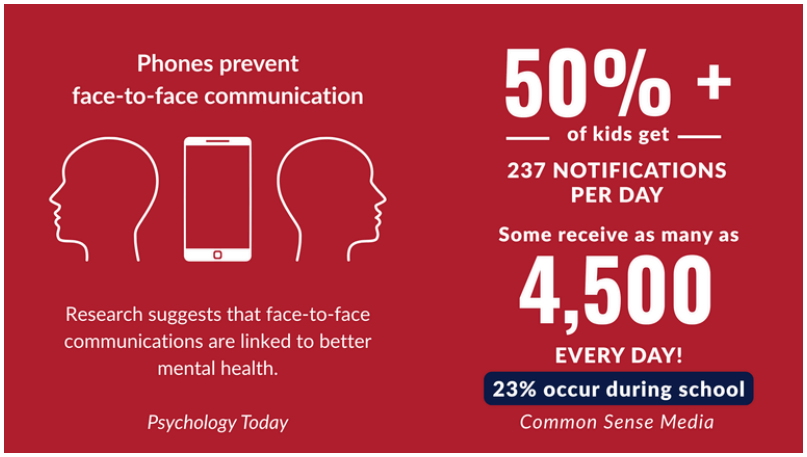

Shelby Comiskey's Senior Project beautifully reflects both her creativity and her faith. With a desire to bring more Catholic artwork into our school, Shelby designed and installed a series of meaningful pieces centered on the theme of loving one another.

Using Canva to source watercolor imagery and Adobe to bring her designs to life, Shelby thoughtfully selected eight quotes from various saints to inspire and uplift those who pass by them each day. This project was especially meaningful to Shelby, as it allowed her to combine her love of faith with the opportunity to leave a lasting impact on the school community. Through her work, she has created something that not only enhances the space but also shares a message of compassion and connection.

Shelby worked under the guidance of her mentor, Director of Outreach Kelly Tolman, tying together the mission of the Church, school, and Outreach in a truly special way.

Unplugged to CONNECT

As part of St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School's ongoing commitment to fostering stronger relationships, deeper focus, and improved well-being, a new cell phone policy was introduced for all high school students on the first day of the 2025-2026 school year.

Policy Overview

All high school students are required to turn in their cell phones upon entering the school building each morning. Phones are securely stored in a locked cabinet for the duration of the school day and returned at dismissal. Students don't have access to their phones during the day - including lunch and passing periods - but may use a school phone if they need to contact a parent or guardian. Likewise, parents can always reach their student by calling the main office in case of an emergency.

This shift is rooted in research that shows face-to-face communication supports better mental health, stronger social skills, and improved learning environments. The goal is simple: help students be more present, engaged, and connected - with their classmates, teachers, and the world around them.

Student Perspectives

While the transition has required some adjustment, many students are already seeing the benefits.

"At first, people were freaking out. I didn't think it would be enforceable," said junior Corban Glackmeyer. "Now, when it's time to change classes, people's heads are up in the hallways and they're talking to each other more during passing periods."

Senior Erynn Amedee agreed. "I've noticed I'm more focused in class," she said. "I'm enjoying communicating with my friends in person more than on my phone."

Looking Ahead

Teachers and administrators have also noticed a positive shift in classroom engagement and peer interaction. "It's been a game changer. It's allowed me more time to focus on teaching instead of worrying about phones and the problems that they can cause," said High School Chemistry Teacher Lisa Aut.
As the school community adjusts to this new routine, one thing is clear: meaningful connection doesn't happen through a screen. Together, Pacelli students are learning that the best conversations - and the strongest friendships - happen face-to-face.

Amy Sherald, St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School Class of 1991, was featured on 60 Minutes in October 2025. One of today's most influential American painters, she is celebrated for her distinctive portraiture and powerful depictions of people of color.

Amy discovered her love for art at St. Anne-Pacelli while experimenting with watercolors. Her longtime teacher, Geri Davis, recognized her talent in kindergarten and encouraged her throughout her 12 years at the school. Reflecting on that influence, Amy shared, "She taught me to see myself as ideal and relevant to my process."

Amy gained national recognition in 2016 when her painting Miss Everything (Unsuppressed Deliverance) won the National Portrait Gallery's Outwin Boochever Portrait Competition. One year later, she was commissioned to paint the official portrait of First Lady Michelle Obama. In 2020, Amy painted Breonna Taylor's portrait on the September cover of Vanity Fair.

Her largest exhibition to date is currently on display at High Museum of Art in Atlanta through September 27, 2026, featuring iconic works and rarely seen paintings spanning nearly two decades of her career.

During his time as a student-athlete, Carson was a standout on the mat, earning recognition as a three-time State Placer, two-time Pacelli Invitational Champion, and multiple Regional Champion. He brings more than two decades of competitive wrestling experience, along with a Bronze Level USA Wrestling Coaching Certification, to our program. Beyond athletics, Carson serves as a Realtor, Associate Broker, and Owner at Keller Williams Realty River Cities. He and his wife, Carrie, head coach of Pacelli's Lady Vikings Dance Team, are proud parents of Emerson and Landon, both students at St. Anne-Pacelli.

Kenny Wessner reminisced about his days playing football for Coach Rustin and lending a hand in building the baseball field during his recent visit to campus. After graduating from Pacelli, he went on to attend the University of North Florida and today works for Pratt & Whitney.

1979

Three members of the Class of 1979 recently reunited for a memorable trip through Norway, Scotland, and Ireland. Eileen Devitt currently resides in Cairo, Egypt. She recently retired as a Senior Foreign Service Officer after 43 years of service with the U.S. government, most recently serving as the USAID Mission Director in Kosovo. Margaret (Peggy) Watt Goodnow lives in Sandefjord, Norway, where she teaches 3rd grade at Skagerak International School, an International Baccalaureate school. Sylvia Attaway, of Box Springs, Georgia, retired after 33 years of teaching middle school in the Harris County School District.

1974

Mary Hall, Pacelli Class of 1974, returned to campus, bringing with her an incredible story of service, scholarship, and lifelong learning. A retired Navy JAG officer and now an adjunct professor in southern Maryland, Mary teaches pre-law courses, including capital punishment and a senior-level Civil War history seminar, continuing to shape the next generation of thinkers and leaders.

During her visit, Mary generously donated a copy of her newly released Civil War history book, From a Yankee to a Rebel Diary, to our school library - a place she fondly remembers spending countless hours as a student. Her visit comes as she travels to speak at the National POW Museum, making her stop at Pacelli even more meaningful.

She also enjoyed reconnecting with Pacelli classmate and current High School Religion Teacher Joanie Gluck Horton.

Mary's journey is a powerful testament to the strength of a Pacelli education. As a graduate, she was able to accelerate her academic path - earning college credit through CLEP exams, beginning her BA at 18 and graduating at 19, then continuing on to law school and passing the bar at just 21. She credits her success to the strong academic foundation she received right here at Pacelli.

The Pacelli High School Class of 1973 gathered for a special girls' weekend in Cashiers, North Carolina, to celebrate a milestone year…turning 70! The weekend was filled with laughter, memories, and plenty of Viking spirit.

Back row: Vicky Smith, Cindy Moxley, Nancy Attaway Fields, Teresa Schomburg Van De Bogart, Maureen Blake Tully, Cathy Cobis Bradshaw, Jeannette Chrismond Purnell
Front row: Lindsay Osteen Sanders and Brenda French Mealor

Former St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School Lower School Principal, Dr. Jocelyn Smith, who worked at our school from 2014-2023, has been appointed Director of the ALMA Initiative of the Alliance for Catholic Education at the University of Notre Dame. ALMA works alongside Catholic schools and dioceses to strengthen educational outcomes for Latino families and multilingual learners through professional development, graduate programming, and school-level engagement.

Donor Recognition

Dear Viking Family,

On behalf of the faculty and staff of St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School, thank you for your generous support over the past year. Together we raised $171,483 for The P Fund and $481,654 for tuition assistance. For this and all of the ways you have made a difference in the lives of our students and the strength of our school community, we thank you.

This year brought new opportunities to strengthen our culture of philanthropy and engagement. From previewing our "Rocket" boards showcasing school history at October's Homecoming alumni social, to streamlining Advancement operations with little things like emailing donation receipts, you may have noticed some changes. Those changes are helping us engage with more members of the Viking family than ever before, and resulting in record Giving Day and Annual Fund contributions, an incredibly successful Deimel Ball - see below for exciting news on the 2027 event - and new Georgia GOAL donors.

More changes are on the horizon, including new offerings from our Booster Club to support our expanding Athletics program. In all that we do, our overarching goal is to be good stewards of what's entrusted to us, which is leading us to partner with the Community Foundation of the Chattahoochee Valley to endow a general fund, several scholarship funds, and an Athletics fund.

As we look ahead, we are grateful for your continued partnership and belief in our mission. Together, we are ensuring that future generations of students will benefit from a transformative Catholic education rooted in excellence, faith, and community. Thank you for your support and for being an important part of the St. Anne-Pacelli family.

With a grateful heart,

Emily Sutherland

Director of Advancement and Alumni Relations

We have made every effort to recognize those who have supported our mission between July 1, 2025, and June 30, 2026, in the donor list that follows. If we have unintentionally omitted your name or listed it incorrectly, please accept our sincere apologies. Kindly email us at advancement@sasphs.net so we can correct our records and ensure accuracy in future publications.
Thank you for your understanding and grace.

Save the Date for the Deimel Ball

Mark your calendars for the 22nd Annual Deimel Legacy Ball! Building on the record-breaking success of our 2026 event, we are excited to gather in a new venue as we celebrate our school community and continue investing in the future of Catholic education. Watch for details and sponsorship opportunities in the months ahead.

Tuition alone doesn't cover the cost to educate students at St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School. The P Fund, our annual fund, bridges the gap. Gifts to The P Fund are unrestricted and supplement the school's operating budget.

The Eugenio Pacelli Legacy Society

The Eugenio Pacelli Legacy Society honors those who have chosen to make a lasting impact by committing a portion of their estate to St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School through planned giving.

Established in 2023, the society honors Pope Pius XII, who was born Eugenio Pacelli in 1876 to a Roman family with a long tradition of service to the Vatican. Following his death in 1958, Holy Family High School - then in its first year - was renamed Pacelli High School in his honor.

Today, the Eugenio Pacelli Legacy Society recognizes and celebrates the generosity of the following individuals and families who have chosen to support St. Anne-Pacelli Catholic School through their wills, trusts, beneficiary designations, or other planned gifts. Their commitment helps ensure that the mission of Catholic education continues to thrive for years to come.

There are many ways you can make a lasting impact through a legacy gift, including:

- Name the school as a beneficiary of a retirement account (e.g., IRA or 401(k)), a life insurance policy, or bank or investment account.
- Create a charitable gift annuity or charitable trust that can provide income to you or your loved ones while supporting the school in the future.
- Make a gift of appreciated assets, such as stocks or securities, as part of your estate plan.
- Establish an endowed fund that will provide lasting support for a program, scholarship, or area of greatest need.

By making a legacy gift, you create a lasting testament to your values and ensure that future students will continue to benefit from the transformative experience of a Catholic education. For more information (or to let us know you've already remembered St. Anne-Pacelli in your estate plan), please contact Emily Sutherland at esutherland@sasphs.net.
