DUBLIN (GA), July 10, 2026 – Dublin City Schools received a follow-up letter from Cognia yesterday recognizing the district's progress in addressing the recommendations identified during the February 2026 Monitoring Review. The letter also reaffirmed that the district's accreditation remains in place.

The district will continue implementing its improvement plan ahead of follow-up monitoring by Cognia in the coming months.

After reviewing the district's comprehensive response, action plan, and supporting documentation, Cognia acknowledged that Dublin City Schools has established a structured plan to address all required directives. The organization also recognized that the district has already completed initial action steps, provided supporting evidence, and developed the tools and implementation timeline needed to guide improvement efforts throughout the 2026–27 school year.

The district's work now focuses on implementing these initiatives, monitoring progress, and demonstrating sustained improvement over time. Cognia will continue to review evidence of progress as part of its regular accreditation process.

Dublin City Schools remains committed to strengthening governance, transparency, leadership, operational systems, and student support while keeping families, staff, and the community informed throughout this process.

"We are very grateful to the Cognia team for their collaboration as we continue improving our processes and procedures to better meet the needs of our students," said Mrs. Marcee Pool, Interim Superintendent. "It is the collective effort of our staff, families, Board of Education, and community that will ultimately ensure our district continues to grow stronger and that our students thrive well beyond their time in the classroom."

The district will continue to provide updates as they become available.
