THE DREAM

When the white eagle of the North is flying overhead,
The browns, reds, and golds of autumn lie in the gutter, dead.
Remember then, that summer birds with wings of fire, flaying,
Came to witness spring's new hope, born of leaves decaying.
Just as new life will come from death, love will come at leisure Love of love, love of life and giving, without measure.
Gives in return a wondrous yearn of a promise almost seen.
Live hand-in-hand and together we'll stand on the threshold of a dream.

In this picture my dog is relieving himself on my leg. Why my leg? Why not, would be a better question. You see, his mind is totally free of preconceptions. In his mind everything and everybody are treated with a great degree of equality. I've tried to treat everyone that I've known with this in mind. The people that have confused me and will continually confuse me are the people who don't think this way. These were the people I chose not to be around. Luckily I have enough friends who feel the way I do. I couldn't have made it this far without them.

As I look onto a world of unknown faces,
I do not see them as strangers.
But only as friends I have not made yet!
-Joan Rydberg

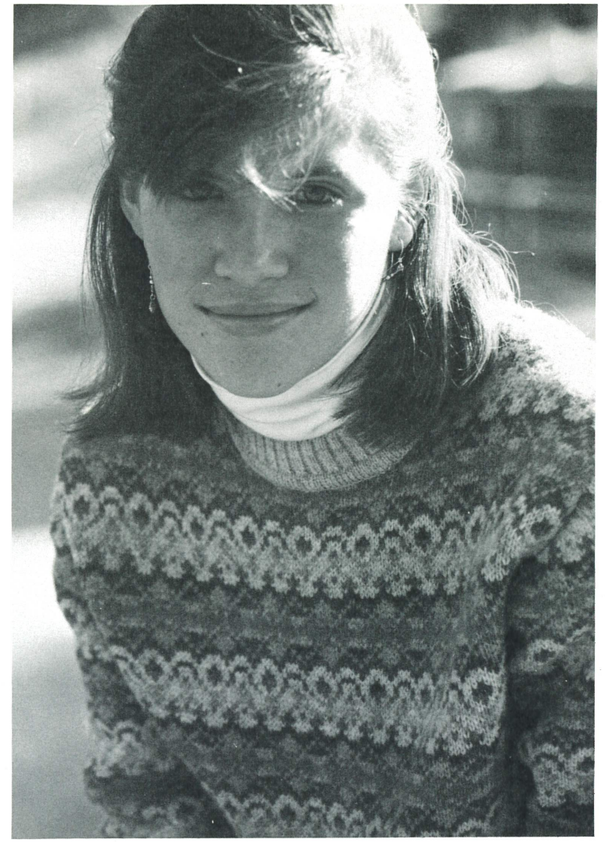

Don't walk in front of me,
I may not follow.
Don't walk behind me,
I may not lead.
Just walk beside me and
Be my friend.

While we are born with curiosity and wonder and our early years full of the adventure they bring,
I know such inherent joys are often lost.
I also know that, being deep within us,
their latent glow can be fanned to flame again
by awareness and an open mind.

All the world
is a very narrow bridge
and the most important thing is not to be afraid

It could have been me but instead it was you So I'll keep doing the work you were doing as if I were two
I'll be a student of life, a singer of songs
A farmer of food and a righter of wrongs

-Holly Near

I remember the time you told me, you said,
"Love is touching souls"
Well surely you touched mine
'cause part of you pours out of me
In these lines from time to time."

one winter afternoon

(at the magical hour
when is becomes if)

a bespangled clown
standing on eighth street
handed me a flower.

Nobody, it's safe to say, observed him but myself; and why?because without any doubt he was whatever (first and last)

mostpeople fear most:
a mystery for which i've
no word except alivei

--that is, completely alert
and miraculously whole;

with not merely a mind and a heart

but unquestionably a soul--
by no means funerally hilarious

(or otherwise democratic)
but essentially poetic
or ethereally serious:

a fine not a coarse clown (no mob, but a person)

and while never saying a word

who was anything but dumb;
since the silence of him

self sang like a bird.
Mostpeople have been heard screaming for international

measures that render hell rational
--i thank heaven somebody's crazy

enough to give me a daisy

e.e. cummings

'So You, too . . .'

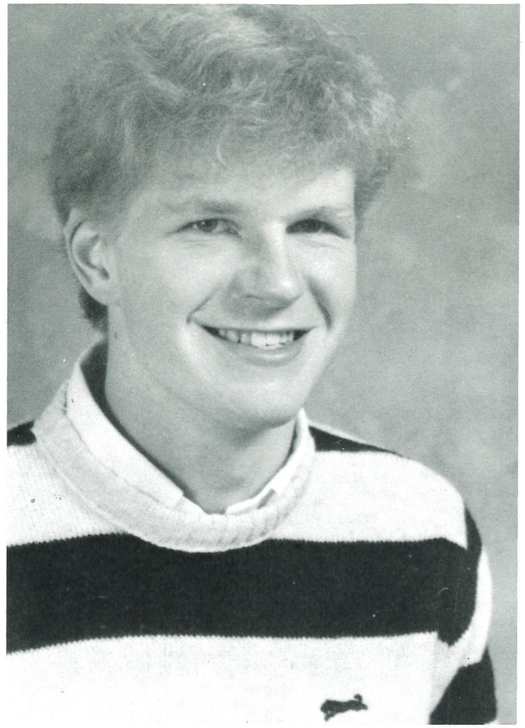

So you, too, are a part of me. My solitude always beginning, as grass grows, is a tide running at daybreak out of the grayrose east to slide over the sand, encircle
the drowned beauty, the dead bird, the old boot;
my life explores the caves, pours into pools, hunts with starry hunters. I stretch out fingers of grass, fingers of flame, and touch my own name engraved on air, own flesh walking towards me down a dream. I wheel as a wave pounces, unmask the stranger:
you too a part of me, I enter the gate of your eyes,
my beggar, my brother, answer of the sea.
