E. RTA report: Absent CSEA report: Gary Jones: Hi everybody. Congratulations to our reclassified students. That's always such a huge achievement. I know I don't think I'm mistaken, but I think we had a whole bunch of them like last month, and then to have even more come through, like that's fantastic. I love seeing that, and then yeah, Mrs. Irving doing a wonderful job keeping that career pathway going, because there's a lot of kids that are really interested in the medical field, and the hands-on techniques and things that they learned from that classroom were probably outstanding. So, I am glad we have somebody fill that position, and I don't know what her future holds, but if she's coming back next year, maybe we will get somebody to do that, because one of the students was in one of my early computer classes and stuff. He has a fifth grader, Justin Russell. He is an outstanding student, truly amazing, and he's interested in the medical field and it's partly due to having experience in that class, and he's looking at maybe becoming an RN, so I wish him the best, and every other student that's interested in that, as far as CSEA goes, I mean, our TA went through, so we are pretty much good on that end. Startup negotiations in August, we got a lot of employees who are still working over the summer, so thank you for doing that. I hope everybody has a good summer. Board members, I guess, get some time off. I hope. No, come on, no, not even to tend to your garden. All right, yeah. Well, I hope you guys do take some time off, cabinet members too. You guys get little reset before we get started with school, except for Banahan, and he's leaving us no reset for you. I wish you the best too. I really got nothing to report.

F. Student Board Member: Aliyah Finch – Absent

G. CBO Report: Robert Irving: As the year draws closer to a close. Thank you to all the administrator, classified, certificated, just all of the staff that worked for us in this past year, substitutes for filling in for people that are out. I want to say thank you to everybody for another successful year, and hopefully the people get some time during the summer to recharge their batteries, so we can do it all over again next year. Construction is continuing. Westpark is looking more and more complete every day between the update of paint and tying the letters together at the top of the building, so that Westpark is one part instead of two, those, the new parking lot area, the new classrooms, it is all coming together quickly. We are ready to rock wall over there. We are going to start our punch walk this week with the contractor, to start going through the list of, okay, here's the items that need to be updated, or why is this FRP panel starting to peel, all these things now before we move into them, and then you turn around and say it is our problem not theirs, so looking forward to that. I realized on May 14th the government proposal and the legislature put in session to start putting in their two cents and chiming in on what they like or don't mind, and all of that. So, I will have a presentation later tonight about some of that stuff too.

H. Assistant Superintendent, Instruction and Curriculum: Dr. Larry Mendez: Thank you to everyone that joins us in person and online. Congratulations to the students being recognized for the art, as well as students being reclassified, and Miss Irving, like to thank everyone in the board, Mrs. Gaines, cabinet members, colleagues, administrators, as well as teachers, and classified staff for all their contributions and dedication in helping students move forward in regards to reclassification, as well as upcoming promotions and graduations celebrations. Looking forward to that. We had the DAC meeting on May 27th. That was our last DAC meeting for the year. We will start up again next school year, if you have not had a chance to join us. Also, to present some information on health, some highlights and reporting out places like us we had. On Thursday, May 28th we had a chance to connect with Abraham Lincoln Independent Study teachers, as well as Ms. Calzada and team members from KCSOS, who visited the literacy plan, and made some proposed updates. So, we will have more information on that soon. Our chance to communicate with Eureka Math Squared today to continue to discuss logistics, training materials and so forth. Our goal is to have everything by July 1st, so we connected with the representative and also discussed our training and so forth. So also, more information comes in on that. Dr. Wetzel will be available Juneteenth for about an hour via Zoom to attend to teachers that may have some questions, and so forth. Sean Riley is helping us out with formatting the central standards for the English Language Arts for the report card for next school year. The subcommittee have been working with Dr. Wetzel in terms of English Language Arts high priority standards, the standards, and the common core learning assessments, we are trying to wrap that up so that we can place that on the report card for next year. We have been planning for summer school. We are also planning summer professional development offerings for summer as well. We have been checking in with Dan, with Sheryl, other departments, just make sure that we have in our course offerings, and then we will be sharing that out with the teachers, that way they can let us know what they are interested in signing up for. So, that concludes my report.

VI. Reports and Communications (Continued)

- I. Assistant Superintendent, Special Education, Pupil Personnel: Sheryl Taylor: Hello, everybody. Yeah, I want to piggyback on what you already said. Congratulations to Alice for winning that poster contest. That poster was beautiful. I could only see it from a distance, but it looked quite well done. So great art teacher. Congratulations to the students that reclassified, because that is always a significant accomplishment. Takes a lot of work to do that, so yay for them. Aliya Finch, hopefully I'll get to see her again before the school year ends. Well, not before the school year ends, but before she leaves the board. She has been fabulous. I love hearing her reports. She is always very thorough and fun. Debbie Irving, I love that she took over the program again, because it's an amazing program. I remember when I first saw that machine that is in there, and I don't even know how to pronounce what it is called, but it is very impressive. I know when I was a student, I would have loved that class. We did not have anything like that back then, so that was fantastic as well. For my department, we are just kind of finishing up this year, finishing up reports, trying to get all of our IEPs finalized, preparing for summer school and next school year. So, other than that, I just want to wish everybody a happy and safe summer. Thank you for all your hard work to our staff and families, and everybody. Stay safe and enjoy. That's it for me.
- J. Associate Superintendent, Human Resources: Leanne Hargus – Absent
- K. Superintendent Report: Barbara Gaines: Good evening, everyone, and good evening to those who may be joining us in the community. A couple weeks ago, it has been less than that, I think. I attended a band and strings concert at Rosamond High, conducted by Mr. Clason for the band, and Mr. Ferrandini conducted the strings, and it was really an enjoyable evening. The kids did so well at the concert. It's just nice to be able to end your day kind of just sitting down and letting the kids entertain you, and I so enjoyed that, and then this past week I attended Tuesday and Wednesday night at Tropico. On Tuesday night it was a real treat, because we had the elementary band students from fourth and fifth grade from both Westpark and Rosamond Elementary at Tropico, and then, and, oh my goodness, they were so good. Then we heard his first-year band did a great job, but then we heard his advance band. The second was there. You can vouch for me, right? The separate man, phenomenal, phenomenal. That's all I'm going to say. Then what made it even more exciting, is if you walk down the hallway, in between the changes of the bands going on and off stage, they had an art show that went the length of the hallway on both sides, that I was just speechless. How good. One thing I have noticed in Southern Kern every single year it is kind of a little embarrassing, because I remember last year Assemblyman Tom Lackey's art contest, we took first, second, third, and fourth, and I was like, are we the only district that competed. His representative said no, not at all. There were a lot of districts. I was like, wow, we are just that good. But if you had seen this art show, I see also at RES, the kids are phenomenal. We have a lot of talented young men and women, and boys and girls, in Southern Kern, especially in the field of the arts. Then to make it even more exciting, if you could need more excitement, you could enter one room and they had seventh grade world history projects, and then go to the other side of that room and it was eighth grade U.S. history projects, and then I left that evening. I'm sorry, I just have to tell this whole story. I left that evening, and Dr. Keys said, "Barbara, have you seen it with the fence down? I said, "Well, I have only seen pictures. So, I went outside, and I looked at all the landscape and note beds, and the lights were on, and it was like, oh my gosh, this is just all I could think of was the elementary parents have to be thinking, wow, this Tropico middle school is a great place to be. Hello, is it not? Is that not what we want our parents to think as their kids promote out of elementary and head to middle school. Then driving out of the campus, there was lights all the way down and around the gym, and I was just like in hog heaven. It was a beautiful, beautiful evening, and so that was very, very exciting. Then went back the next night for choir and strings, and saw some more in the art show, so I spent a couple nights at Tropico, but it was so well worth it. I want to congratulate Dr. Tolliver, and all your reclassified students, and all their teachers. You had not just three, I know you're, you have got what, 80 some qualified, 83 are eligible. So that is going to be a big night. So, that is great, and I too want to congratulate our young lady from Tropico, who won the poster contest in third place, but as I said, we often win whatever contest our students enter, and I just want to say to everyone, thank you, thank you, thank you. We have had, I'm almost, I don't want to jinx it, a great year in Southern Kern, and I think the highlight, or the cherry on the banana split, I'm hoping, Dan, I won't jinx it, is going to be our test scores. I have seen some preliminary scores, and I am seeing lots of pluses in front of those numbers, so that is so exciting. Is that not what we want to do? Is to educate our children and close the learning gaps, and everything else, sort of, you know, we achieve all these other things, but when we know our kids are learning in the process, it does not get any better than that. So, yeah, very exciting, very exciting. Mr. Vincelette, let I almost feel like I'm in a punch walk in this boardroom. Are you the one responsible for all these blue tapes on the wall, because I'm like, what is going on in our boardroom here. Okay, looks like a punch walk to me, but it is okay. Thank you!

- L. Board Member Communications: Adrienne Rendon: Did anybody receive anything? Congratulations. I apologize for not being here. I do not really have very much. I know it is a couple days before the end of the school year, so I hope everyone is just kind of keeping it going. And seniors, go to all your classes, you are going to miss it. Talk to all your teachers, take as many photos as you can, because memories matter. I just hope everyone has a great year and an amazing, safe summer. That is it. Mario Gutierrez: I congratulate the young students that have transitioned out, and I am looking forward to the 80. Congratulations to our student that won the art show. Amazing, I was looking at that, and she has a real future in art. Everybody have a great summer, relax, enjoy it, because it is going to come back around really quick and really fast. CSEA, the busy season is about to start. Oh, yeah, you guys work harder in the summer than anybody else. Yes, so thank you. Thank you. Oh, the concert, I was not able to make it, but the sax solo for the beginning RES and Westpark band was my grandson. While he was doing it, I was getting it on the phone. Yes, because I had to work. Sunni Hepburn: Shake hands, shake a lot of hands. Coming up this week, I agree with you. I think it has been a really great school year. You know, with any school year, there's ups or downs, but I feel like this one was, you know, pretty good. It was a pretty good one. I did as well go to the show, the kids like, to watch them, just how they like where they were starting, and then beginning lots of talent. Looking forward to the advanced band going to the high school next year. The art walk was amazing. I was, when they were like, "Oh, we will have a look. I did not know what to expect, and I was just like, Wow. And I wanted to look at everything, and there was stuff hanging from the walls, and there was different type of art. There was cardboard art, there was ceramics, there was all kinds of things, like you said. We are a talented town, you know, as long as we nurture that and you know pour into these kids like anything is possible. I hope they all know that. Andy, you were not here at the last meeting, unless you, I do see that we said left going on, I did, I shed a little tear to luck wherever you go, whatever you do, and what else? I don't know, Bob. I am looking forward to this week. Congratulations to the reclassified students, to Ms. Irving, to our talented artist that got third. I spent some time with the fifth graders at our Westpark that are heading on to Tropico, and I was like, we are getting popsicles, and they were like, ah, they're going crazy, make a line, calm down, kids, so good luck. Oh, you are leaving, so who knows, we will see. Other than that. I hope everyone does have a nice summer and rest up, and if you guys would have planted things like a month ago or two months ago, think what you guys would be growing right now. Robert Vincelette: Okay. Well, I do want to recognize the young lady that won the award on art, and reclassification. Dr. Tolliver, I am glad to see you at one of our meetings. I know, I know you are a busy lady, and I understand, but maybe we will see you a little more often, but you are, believe me, I had a lot of good, just great discussion with you, as brief as it was yesterday. Hopefully, we will have more of those, and so forth. Debbie Irving, yes, thanks for coming back. She is not the only one. I retired three times, and still not really retired. So, you understand that. Yeah, I have failed. Sorry, I couldn't be here last week for the concerts and everything, but I had a granddaughter who graduated in Texas, and so we were busy there, and so forth. She received a couple scholarships, she is doing well, going to the University of Texas San Antonio to be an architect, so I was there. Dr. Keys, has finally put that cane out there and drew it around my neck and dragged me down, and I was there yesterday to see the artwork, and she is very persuasive I will give her that. This young lady is so excited, everything that is going on her campus, it just made me excited to, you know, be there with her, and I had to remind her, because I had to laugh a little bit, she is still got one plant in the planter, I think, since she is on this third time, she cannot figure out why that one plant keeps dying, so I told her, I said, Well, keep trying, maybe we will figure it out sometime, but she is so proud of that school. We just were starting to get to know each other, especially at the hearings. We were having as much fun as we could have, I guess you could say, but everybody is involved with that. We have been doing well. And graduation coming up. Looking forward to all of that. Dr. Fisher is here on Monday, in-person. Yes, 8:30 to 3:00 p.m. here in the boardroom. I will try to get over some time as we talked about what I'm talking about, is and I mentioned this with Dr. Toliver yesterday as well, is the blocks and the new math curriculum we got going for the elementary, I have never seen so many excited teachers to get that off the ground and moving, and I understand, and as I mentioned to Dr. Mendez and Dr. Tolliver, military has been doing their training in blocks forever. When I went to school many years ago, everything was taught in blocks and validated, and from what I could tell, that math has been validated, and I am planning on when they have it in there. I'm going to get with Mrs. Varela, and I am going to go in with her classes. I want to see her when she is teaching that subject, just to see for myself, and it makes me a little excited, because the gentleman that I worked with back many years ago was my mentor in realizing everything that we are doing today. He was teaching me back in the late 70s, so we will see where it goes. Okay.

- M. Sub-Committee Communications/Updates: Robert Vincelette: Mrs. Gaines, you can see we have been busy. We had a subcommittee meeting yesterday for the safety and security, but it was at all well aware. We approved upgrading and modernizing the board room with our presentations, so what you see back there are where the monitors back here are going to go. That's the size of the monitors. The box up there is going to be the box for all the cabling and communication devices. The box above you, Dr. Toliver, is where the camera is going to go. The other camera is going to go over there, and the other small one is places where power and cabling and stuff will be routed through. The company has got most of the equipment. We won't take over the boardroom until after the next board meeting, and so we have got something coming up I need to know, so I can let the vendor know, but sometime in July we should have a very modernized boardroom, it will feed YouTube, hopefully they will be able to hear everybody in the room where the microphones are going to be, and so forth, and then the other thing that we talk about is, and I am sure, is getting communications out to the stadium, especially the area, get some security cameras out, we will talk about that more. Sean is running a plan, and we will sit down with him and Justin and the board, so everybody can get an idea of where the thought process is. Mr. B asked me to get him a quote for a new PA system out at, we did have that a little bit, a couple modifications based on Sean's input and other folks, so we did find out we have one of the best speaker systems out there, and it works. Just need to upgrade the audio so that it is there, we have our graduations. Everything will be in a wireless mode, rather than having run cables tripping hazards. So, Camie will be happy with that. Other than that, that is all I have. Mario Gutierrez: On the construction side, we got Tropico finally finished with a six-month delay. Westpark is on track to open for the first of the year. Later Friday will be the punch walk with the building contractor medallion, so yeah, we are going along, painting is about a week or two off, and then renumbering, it should be interesting. The locker rooms are in progress,
