Dear Ms. Williams,

November 10, 2023

Immersing myself in the dynamic world of hair styling while studying at the Paul Mitchell School solidified my passion for this industry and its intricate artistry. Like an artist cheered on by patrons in a gallery, the thrill of seeing a client's face light up after a successful hair service left a lasting impression. Eager to infuse my skills into an esteemed setting, I'm excited about joining the Andy Lecompte Salon as a hairstylist assistant.

My theoretical and hands-on training at Paul Mitchell provided me with valuable knowledge in shampooing and conditioning, leading to my commendable performance in the school's annual "Hair Care Mastery" contest. My strategic approach to product selection and application wowed the judges, securing me 2nd place among 43 participants.

In an advanced haircutting course, I became adept at sectioning and clipping. My friend Jenny, eager to support my learning, became my go-to model. I meticulously sectioned and clipped her hair to create various styles, garnering attractive reviews on her social media posts by a 27% increase in engagements.

My culminating project was an exploration of color mixing and application. The comprehensive grasp of color theory and my practical knowledge of application techniques empowered me to create an array of unique hair colors at a community charity event. My contribution left the audience in awe with the versatile and vibrant hair colors. This achievement was further amplified by an endorsement from a well-known local influencer, highlighting the impactful fusion of my hairdressing skills and creativity.

With the above experiences, foundational knowledge, and undying passion for hair-related artistry, I'm equipped to become a proficient hairstylist assistant at Andy Lecompte Salon. I look forward to discussing how my skills can help enhance your salon's reputation.

Sincerely,

Leila Naderi
