April - Perseverance

Grades K-2	Grades 3-5	Grades 6-8
Emma Snyder: Emma joined our class in the middle of the school year. This could pose as a difficult transition for most kids but Emma rose to the challenge. She eagerly worked hard to adapt to her new surroundings and routines. Emma pursued new friendships and maintained positivity when new skills were tricky. A few months later, she became the helper for another new student. Her perseverance continues to show everyday in class as she works towards her potential.	Luvleen Kumar: Luvleen is someone who works incredibly hard in the classroom. As the year progresses, and the work gets harder, she works very hard to follow along. She takes the time both in and out of the classroom to improve her learning. She perseveres through the subjects as best as she can and does not give up. She is not afraid to ask for help!	Salih Ozkan: Salih works so hard in Spanish class. The vocabulary and concepts may not always come easily to him, but Salih is not afraid to ask questions to better understand the lesson. We've only just begun the marking period at the time of this submission, but Salih has already improved his familiarity with Spanish numbers and forming dates in Spanish. He takes time outside of class to complete lessons in Duolingo, and it proves to me that Salih cares about doing well. By doing everything in his power to better understand the subject, Salih shows great perseverance.
Jackson Ruggles: Jackson is a great example of a person who perseveres through something that appears to be challenging at first, but takes a deep breath and keeps trying. He has worked very hard both at home and at school to learn all of our kindergarten skills. Recently, I observed Jackson practicing writing CVC words with proper formation of letters. While he was writing he stopped to erase his letter and fix it using proper formation. Furthermore, Jackson has learned that deep breathing helps calm him down and when he becomes upset he immediately begins taking deep breaths and can then move forward with solving the problem on his own:) Seeing Jackson's progress this year both academically and emotionally, is a true testament that parent support helps a child thrive:)	Layla Pope: Layla is a perfect nominee for Student of the Month for the character trait of perseverance. Layla consistently goes above and beyond in all that she does, demonstrating a strong commitment to learning and personal growth. Even when Layla is faced with challenges, she never gives up. Layla approaches each task with determination, a positive attitude, and a willingness to try her best. Layla's hard work and resilience set a wonderful example for her classmates, making her the perfect nominee for this month's character trait of perseverance.	Daniella McKee: Daniella is a hardworking student, who despite obstacles, never gives up. She has come a long way, and it is due to her perseverance. It has been a joy to watch her gain confidence due to how she has pushed through and had success. I am so proud of Daniella!
