TAYLOR'S LAW

School behavior can affect your ability to get a driver's license or permit!

Taylor's Law is an Alabama law that connects school discipline to when a student can get:

- A learner's permit
- A driver's license
- Or other state-issued licenses

WHO DOES IT APPLY TO?

- Discipline points start counting at age 13
- Points can delay your license at age 15,16, or 17

FACTS ABOUT POINTS:

- Points may not accrue for the first 3 days of ISS. However, on the 4th day of ISS, all days, including the first 3, shall be counted. Points may not accrue for the first OSS if it is 2 days or less. However, if a student receives OSS for a second time, all days shall be counted.
- Initial points will be reduced by ½ if a student does not receive points for an entire school year.
- All points will be removed if a student does not receive points for 2 years.

POINT COUNT:

- 1 Day of ISS = 1 Point
- 1 Day of OSS = 2 Points
- Alternative Setting Due to Discipline = 6 Points
- Expulsion = 20 Points

MORE POINTS = LONGER WAIT TO GET YOUR LICENSE!!
