

Good Evening Rialto High School,

This is your Principal, Dr. Sweeney, with your Sunday phone call.

It has finally come, the first week of school, and we can't wait to see our students on Wednesday, August 5th, bright and early at 8:40am.

Parents and students, please remember that 8:40 am is the time that school starts. At that time students should already be in their classrooms, sitting at their desks, not being dropped off or walking in. Drop off or walk in at 8:30 so you can be sure that your student is on time.

Wednesday, August 5th is a minimum day and that means that students will be released at 2:05pm.

For our first day of school we are doing something a little different. We are making it a getting to know you day.

What does that mean?

Students should not bring backpacks because they will not be getting books or homework. All students will be doing fun and engaging activities all day long while getting to know their teachers and who will be in their classes. Thursday we can bring backpacks. That is the day that academic learning will begin.

Sports for the week. There are no home sports this week but if you are an incoming freshmen looking to play a sport and you missed summer practices. Look for our athletic director, Mr. Holland, on the quad at lunch and he can tell you what you need to do.

That's all for the week, Rialto. Have a great week and remember, our instructional focus is critical reading and writing across the curriculum and once a knight, always a knight.
