Engineering For Kids: Mission Earth Series - Grades K- 4:

Fall Session: As engineers work to protect oceans, they also search for cleaner ways to move across them. The challenge connects sustainable transportation with environmental responsibility, showing how engineering solutions can reduce pollution while supporting ocean cleanup efforts. Students explore how buoyancy, balance, and stability help engineers design floating structures that work with water instead of against it.

Winter Session: Understanding Earth from above requires rockets and spacecraft that can launch with precision and travel safely through the atmosphere. In this mission, students explore the engineering principles behind rocket design, including thrust, stability, and trajectory. Students investigate how potential and kinetic energy affect a spacecraft during descent and how weight distribution and shock absorption influence survivability. Acting as aerospace engineers, they design and test a lunar landing system that protects their crew during impact.

Quilting with Linda Hunter –
Sampler Quilt with 6 inch Blocks
A sampler quilt usually contains a variety of different quilt block designs using fabrics that coordinate. Because each block is different it is a great way to learn a variety of techniques. By making six inch blocks, we can learn several techniques and enjoy assembling them into a quilt, or table runner, wall quilt, or even pillows. Fabrics needed will be determined by the size of your project. This may be made with just a few coordinating fabrics, the same in each block, or with many different fabrics - as a scrap quilt.

Quilting with Linda Hunter - Quilt Panels with "Apple Core" Pieced Blocks
This class is for those who have some basic sewing knowledge. There are many pre-printed quilt panels in quilt shops and on-line that are designed and ready to quilt; perhaps you may wish to add borders or other embellishments. You can choose what interests you - any type, size, design etc. We will then use the traditional "apple core" quilt template, on a large scale that may be cut from 10" squares or your own fabrics, to create a border around the chosen panel that coordinates with it. This results in a border automatically with curved edges. A rotary cutter, ruler and mat will be used in class or at home. Sewing will be accomplished on your own sewing machine at home. We will discuss everything needed in the first class. Access Linda's website for photos of previous class projects and other information: www.hunters-stars.com

These exercises will tone and firm your muscles, increase your flexibility and range of motion and stimulate your circulation. The resistance of the water produces effects similar to using weights in land exercises, while its buoyancy makes movements possible where one might otherwise be restricted. Program includes 60 minutes of creative routines choreographed to music followed by a 30 minute open swim.
